CLOUGHER SENTENCED TO SING SING PRISON

New York, June 2[illegible].—Thomas J. Clougher today was sentenced to from five to ten years at hard labor in Sing Sing prison for his part in the milk graft scandal.

Clougher, who was once secretary to Health Commissioner Dr. Frank J. Monahan, was convicted of giving and taking bribes to secure the admission of western cream to this city.

His crime was described by Judge Cohn as a "heinous one," especially in view of the fact that he was an official of the health department.

State Convention Of Sunday Schools

Seventy-first Annual Convention Scheduled to Meet at Syracuse October 13 to 15—All Sunday Schools Invited to Send Delegates.

The seventy-first annual New York State Sunday School Convention and Statewide Council of Religious Education is announced for Syracuse on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 13, 14 and 15. Syracuse is the most centrally located city for convention purposes in the Empire State. From it radiate railroad and trolley lines in every direction. For a radius of 150 miles, and more, the country is supplied with as fine automobile roads as can be found anywhere in the world. These conditions will contribute to a record-breaking attendance upon the convention sessions.

Central New York state is said to possess more wideawake and progressive Sunday schools than any other state area of like proportions can boast. Its response to the newer forms of religious education (week day and daily vacation, or church, schools) reveals a growing interest in the new religious educational awakening. For this reason a phenomenal attendance of registered delegates and visitors at Syracuse is expected.

The convention meets in Syracuse upon the invitation of the Onondaga County Council of Religious Education, which represents all the Sunday schools and churches of Syracuse and the county of Onondaga. The noted First Baptist Church, with its Mizpah Hotel, will serve as the seat of the convention. The program will require also the simultaneous use of several nearby churches.

A strong local committee of arrangements, with twenty sub-committees, already organized and at work, give assurance that nothing will be lacking in local arrangements for the entertainment and comfort of delegates and visitors. Herbert W. Osborne, comptroller of the city of Syracuse, is chairman of the committee. Syracuse will provide entertainment in homes (lodging, or lodging and breakfast) at a minimum charge. Hotel accommodations may be secured at rates varying from $1.50 up.

The program, now in the building, will be strong in educational and inspirational features. Speakers and educators of national repute will serve the convention. Numerous specialization conferences will be arranged for workers who wish to intensely follow a particular phase of religious education, Sunday or week day.

The convention fee for all registered delegates is $1.50, payable at the time of registration, either in advance or at the convention. Any interested person may register.

Sunday schools throughout the state are invited to select delegates early, and, if possible, form automobile parties, in which delegates from associated schools may journey together to the convention city.

The advance programs will be ready September 1. A preliminary "Get Ready" folder, giving further information about the convention is now ready and may be secured without charge in needed quantities upon application to State Headquarters, 80 Howard street, Albany, N. Y., to which address requests may also be made for advance programs to be mailed early in the fall.

TO ROBIE'S TENT YE KINGSTON SINNERS

Evangelist Will Open Campaign Here Beginning July 11.

Evangelist Robie, whose revival campaign in Bloomington and Rosendale has just come to a successful finish, is after bigger game and will open in Kingston on July 11 in a tent located on Field Court. The evangelist says he will have some of the greatest musicians in the country and a chorus of at least 150 voices.

The tent will seat 1,000 and overflow meetings can be held outside. It is delightfully cool in the evenings, when most of the meetings will be held, but may be a trifle hot on Sunday afternoon, when meetings will also be held in the effort to save Kingston from the powers of evil that are said to now hover over it.

Which churches are financing the Kingston campaign for snatching brands from the burning has not been stated, but as the evangelist operates with a full force, publicity agent, music, etc., the cost will be by no means trivial. Still, as Evangelist Robie supplies the tent, there will be no costly tabernacle to erect as was required by Evangelist Peacock several years ago.

Since the departure of Evangelist Peacock there has been no important attempt by a specialist in religious excitement to warn and save Kingston, although, of course, all of the churches have been on the job so far as their financial support would permit, so doubtless Evangelist Robie will be warmly welcomed, well supported financially, and his tent thronged by those who most need his services.

His Share of Cupboards

He'd bought a house and it had been such a bargain to his idea that he could hardly wait till his fiancee saw it.

"How many clothes' cupboards are there, John?" she demanded breathlessly.

"Six," said John proudly.

"Oh, but that's hardly enough."

"What! Do you want more than six cupboards merely to hang your clothes in?"

"Yes, dear," replied the fair one. "You see, you'll want part of one for your things, won't you?"

KINGSTON'S NEW RECREATION CENTER

The remarkable increase in the number of people who play golf has so far outdistanced the facilities for playing that it will be many years before sufficient courses are provided to accommodate the crowds who desire to play.

As there are totally inadequate accommodations for the public in Kingston and the large number of summer vacationists, a group of Kingston business men headed by Louis H. Gruber, have taken over the old Orrin Dennett place on the River Road, below Port Ewen, and will undertake to provide the needed facilities.

It will be a purely commercial enterprise with no initiation fees or dues, play being open to all persons upon the payment of a nominal green fee. Dinner, dancing in the club house, tennis, swimming, etc., will be paid for in quite the same manner as one would in a hotel.

This basis has been found to be very profitable, not only as an investment to its owners but brings many people from other sections who will fill the boarding houses and hotels and patronize the town merchants in general.

This type of Country Clubs have been growing rapidly all over the country. There are six in Chicago, Cleveland, Boston, New York, Norfolk, Richmond and many other cities and all are fine paying investments.

It is hoped that work can be started on the course immediately. There will be eighteen holes, approximately 6,000 yards, with fourteen two-shot and four one-shot holes. While the layout will constitute a good test of golf there will be no excessive trapping and all the traps will be shallow.

The clubs house with ample accommodations and most unusual view of the river and mountains, with tennis, handball courts and bath-houses for bathing in Lake Esopus are all ready and can be opened to the public within a few days.

The officers and directors, Louis H. Gruber, William C. Schryver, Dr. G. W. Ross, George R. Rock and W. P. Cleveland, are local men.

Soldier a Good Risk

Under favorable conditions of peace the mortality among soldiers is the lowest in any class of men, says the New York Times, the death rate being only 5 in 1,000. The placid days of a clergyman's life, compared with that of a soldier, are full of danger; for, proportionately, more than twice as many clergymen die in the course of the year, their rate of mortality being 11 to the 1,000.

All Finger-Printed

In Argentina there is a national finger-printing law, and as a result the 10,000,000 or more inhabitants are all recorded by this system. It is this regulation which makes Argentine the one country in the world, it is said, where one may not lose his or her identity.

Fright Gives Cripple Strength

Brockton, Mass., June 29—For ten years, since a heavy box fell on him in a shoe factory and caused a withering of his right leg, Harold Winsor, 45, has walked with the aid of crutches.

Today, alarmed on seeing three children of Mr. and Mrs. Anavis Kabadaian, crying for help with flames surrounding them on the top piazza of a three-story apartment house, Winsor threw down his crutches and scrambled up the back stair.

He carried down to safety Margery Kabadaian, six, and hobbled back to the third floor of the burning building.

There he collapsed but, huddled in a corner out of the way of the smoke and flames, Winsor calmed Mr. and Mrs. Kabadaian and directed them to carry their children down the front stairway, which they did.

Firemen rescued Winsor.

Pinchot Sleuths Dismissed Agents

Washington, June 29.—The private secret detective staff used by Governor Gifford Pinchot to enforce the prohibition law in Pennsylvania was composed chiefly of dismissed federal agents. Major William B. Wright, Jr., the governor's special counsel, told the senate slush fund committee today at its inquiry into Pennsylvania's $3,000,000 senatorial primary.

One of the Pinchot investigators, all of whom were paid through a $130,000 fund raised by the W. C. T. U. of Pennsylvania, was under charges of illegally transporting liquor at the time of his appointment, Wright revealed. He was the "Mr. Z." whose identity Wright refused to disclose because he is still an "under cover man" for Pinchot.

Raised Waistline for Summer Gowns

Sleeveless Frocks Are Absolutely Banned; Decorations Are Used.

The diversity of silhouettes, fabrics and colors which the Paris Haute Couture is putting forth at the midseason showings is sufficient to make one hesitate about prognosticating any definite 1926 summer fashion, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune. The Parisienne is pleased, of course; she is allowed to choose either Vionet's long, flowing frocks, Jeanne Lanvin's dresses with allusions to the French second empire, the page-boy silhouette of Martial et Armand's costumes, or the straight lines of Lucien Lelong's creations. As Paul Poiret put it once: "The truth is that woman herself makes fashions and not the couturier. At the time when a dressmaking house creates its models, it presents some two hundred a season; that is, it realizes two hundred different ideas. Women come and all of them choose the same fifteen dresses. Why, no one knows; but these fifteen dresses become—the fashion."

At present the Parisiennes are choosing those fifteen frocks; and from what they are buying or already wearing around tea time at the Ritz or at the Claridge, at the earliest races, at their daily 6 p. m. motor drive through the Bois de Boulogne, one may foretell what will be smart during the summer months.

The first characteristic is the rising waistline. It is true that at the spring openings in the greatest dressmaking houses the normal waistline was usually greeted with a little derisive smile. Meanwhile feelings have changed; women are beginning to realize that sooner or later the waistline will return to its normal place, and that if they hurry the evolution they may be regarded as among the vanguard of fashion. Several society women are wearing suits on which the waist is plainly marked by a belt at the normal place of la taille. Others prefer a sort of robe de style with a slight crinoline effect on the skirt, the bodice clinging to the waist and the figure frankly outlined in its natural contours.

Sleeves, beyond question, are the second main characteristic of the 1926 summer fashions. Wear an afternoon frock without sleeves and you are immediately marked as a woman who doesn't follow fashions observantly. One may wear slit sleeves, pagoda sleeves, mutton sleeves or any variety of sleeves, sleeves, even that are too short to be really called sleeves; but in some form the sleeve must exist. Incidentally, embroideries, gold and silver pipings, paillettes, stitchings, bands, stripes and buttons on sleeves appear in innumerable varieties.

Sports Sailor Chapeau of Green Rough Straw

This charming sports sailor hat of green rough straw, with bands of black, green, and red silk grosgrain, should win the heart of the young miss.

Light-Colored Gloves Are Best for Day Wear

Gloves for general wear and with sports clothes are of antelope, chamois or washable skin or fabric. They are white, natural color, gray or beige—a shade matching the stockings. They are worn very loose and may be the button or pull-on type with overstitched seams.

With formal day dress the glove is of light-colored suede matching the stockings. The very simple pull-on glove with narrow stitching and a plain or scalloped edge is smart. The eight-button length worn wrinkled on the wrist is correct.

New Hemline Supplies Background for Hosiery

A new hemline has been offered by some of the more daring couturiers. Skirts, particularly on evening gowns, moved at the front almost to the knees and descend at the back, in a graceful curved line, to the heels. This sort of hemline offers a lovely background for the pastel tints of one's hosiery.

Sometimes the hemline is banded with two or three folds of sheer georgette to make the color joining of hosiery and frock more harmonious.

Failures Become Critics

Reviewers are usually people who would have been poets, historians, biographers, etc., if they could; they have tried their talents at one or the other, and have failed; therefore they turn critics.—Coleridge.

SUZANNE ENTIRELY OUT OF TOURNAMENT.

Wimbledon, England, June 29.—Mlle. Lenglen is entirely out of the Wimbledon tournament.

Suzanne's entry in the mixed doubles, with Jean Borotra, was scratched today. It was announced that Suzanne did not feel equal to playing even in the doubles.

The scratching of Mlle. Lenglen has served to heighten interest in the ladies singles. Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree is the favorite to win, but she is apt to be upset by either Senorita De Alvarez, the Spanish champion, or by Mrs. Molla Mallory, who gives promise of staging a real come-back.

The principle of home rule can not fail to decline in this country as long as the reformer hailing from Maine is allowed to insist that distant states shall also have the benefit of his product.

Under the revision of the internal revenue law New York state fared very well. The reason is United States Senator Wadsworth gave most of his time to protection of the people of the state, many of whom have little knowledge of what the statute provides. It is complicated, more or less, and the ordinary person would have difficulty in grasping what it does. Furthermore, the subject is one which would not attract many, even taxpayers who are directly interested. Nevertheless, it was well for the state that it had a man of Senator Wadsworth's ability at hand when the revision was made.

◆

Only a few years since, it may be remembered, a vigorous campaign was conducted by one of the leading magazines to get more people to vote, and newspapers generally helped it along. There was some increase in the number who went to the polls, as compared with a preceding year, but the difference was below what was anticipated. The work, to prevail upon the eligible to do their duty by casting their ballots on election day, was pressed for a year or more, and any amount of time and money was spent to interest the people so they would not miss the greatest privilege of a democracy. But while the result was not a complete failure it was not a howling success. Consequently, we are still ruled by noisy minorities.

A FIGHT OF CENTURIES.

The assembling of fifty thousand English people at Runnimede on June 15 has called to mind the fact that our Declaration of Independence, which we are celebrating this year, was not the first movement of its kind among English-speaking people and that its essential principle may be traced back to Magna Charta, or the grant of liberties, which the barons of England forced King John to sign at Runnimede 711 years ago. Until the date of the Great Charter the King of England was a feudal lord whose will was virtually supreme, and his power had been greatly abused. The barons sought to protect themselves and all freemen in life, liberty, and property from arbitrary spoliation. King John had to agree that no freeman should be deprived of his liberty or land except by the judgment of his peers in accordance with England's laws.

But this check upon royal power was not sufficiently effective, except at intervals for centuries, and it was not until the nineteenth century that the fight begun at Runnimede was completely won. From the American point of view this was fortunate, for if the triumph had been complete two centuries earlier there would have been no occasion for the revolt of the American Colonies and the United States would now be a part of the British empire. The imagination is staggered at the thought of how different would have been the history of this country and of much of the world in that case. Power has passed from kings and is supposed to be safely in the hands of the people, but we still have the problem of minorities ruled against their will, and of legislatures dominated by powerful lobbies or unduly influenced by leagued captains of industry or reform movements.

ARTIFICIAL SUNLIGHT.

Away back in 1859 a Frenchman discovered that certain rays from the sun had a beneficial effect upon the skin that could not be attributed to the heat alone.

About twenty years later a couple of Englishmen discovered that the light of the sun's rays, and not the heat, was what destroyed certain little destructive organisms.

Then Koch, the celebrated discoverer of the organism that causes tuberculosis, was able to show the benefit to tuberculous patients from the rays of the sun. This was about 1890.

Then the Norwegian physician Finsen treated skin conditions with those same ultra violet rays, derived from a special lamp, about 1893. And now in our day we find the ultra violet ray lamps as part of the equipment of many hospitals.

In children's hospitals where there are so many little sufferers with tuberculosis of the bones, where operations are frequently necessary, and where they must spend months strapped to frames, the work of these special sunshine lamps is proving a wonderful blessing. With youngsters suffering with rickets, or softening of the bones, who present such deformities as bow legs, narrow chests, and protruding abdomen, these ultra violet rays are actually changing the shape of the youngsters and bringing them back to normal.

In conditions where the blood is thin, and the child is practically wasting away, these rays have the effect of increasing the number and richness of the blood cells.

Where youngsters and grown people also, are putting up a long continued fight with some slow illness, the effect of these rays is to turn the tide in favor of health, and their recovery follows in a short time.

This is due to the double effect of enriching the blood as above, and of stimulating the little white blood cells which fight off the poisons which have got into the system.

The treatment by this lamp method is now on a scientific basis. Usually about twelve treatments are given, three a week for four weeks, the exposure beginning with two minutes for first treatment and increasing up to thirty minutes for the final treatment.

Of course my thought is the same old thought, that those of us who can get outdoors, and get the sun's rays in their natural form, should see to it that we do not neglect to obtain these rays of health.

Today's Story in New York History

By

Frederic A. Godcharles.

Emigration of Palatines Urged in Pastor Kockerthal's Petition to Queen Anne, June 29, 1708.

Early in the eighteenth century many inhabitants of the Lower Palatinate, lying on both sides of the Rhine, in Germany, were driven from their homes by the persecutions of Louis XVI, of France, whose armies desolated their country.

England received many of these fugitives. Here they met five chiefs of the Iroquois confederation taken over by Schuyler, who offered them land in America.

On June 29, 1708, the Reverend Joshua Kockerthal, Evangelical minister of the body of Lutherans, for himself and thirty-nine others petitioned to be transported to America, when Queen Anne issued an order in Council for such transportation and their naturalization before leaving England. The queen provided for them at her own expense.

This first company of Palatines reached New York in December, 1708, and after some months were settled on a grant of 2,190 acres on the west bank of the Hudson, just above the Highlands, now the site of the city of Newburgh. Here they cleared lands, built houses, roads and bridges, and erected a church, which Queen Anne endowed with a bell, and laid the foundations of a thriving town.

Pastor Kockerthal remained only long enough to see his little colony firmly established, and then embarked for England, where he held an audience with the queen, and gaining her countenance, went to Germany, and gathered together three thousand of his coreligionists and took them to England by way of Rotterdam.

This was a much larger number than had been expected and the question of their disposal proved embarrassing. At this juncture General Robert Hunter, who had just been appointed governor of New York, suggested employing the Palatines in the production of naval stores until they should repay the cost of the passage. The proposition of the governor was accepted, and the Palatines signed a contract agreeing to settle on such lands as should be allotted them, not to leave them without the governor's permission, not to engage in woolen-manufactures, and to suffer the naval stores produced to be devoted to the payment of money advanced.

The first of the fleet bearing the three thousand Palatines, under the guidance of Governor Hunter, arrived in New York, June 14, 1710, the last vessel of this fleet arrived on the 24th.

Some of these refugees settled on six thousand acres of land purchased for them by the British government in the Livingston Manor, which site constituted the principal part of the present Germantown, in Columbia County, about eight miles below the city of Hudson. The villages or "dorfs" were laid out, called the "East Camp," and two on the west side of the river, called "West Camp."

Nearly seven hundred, in the following year, went to the present Schoharie County, where they settled in seven villages, each under a leader from whom the dorf was named. Some also went to the Mohawk Valley and settled the district known as the German Flats, in present Herkimer County, and others to Stone Arabia, and Fort Hunter, in present Montgomery County.

A considerable body, becoming dissatisfied at the result of a long controversy over patents for their lands, went to Pennsylvania and settled in what is now Berks County, and were the ancestors of many German families in that state.

A violent sickness broke out among the emigrants with Governor Hunter and four hundred and seventy of them died.

With this company were many who became prominent in their adopted country, among them were John Conrad Weiser, the leader, Elias Garlock, and others, also John Peter Zenger and his widowed mother, Johanna. Peter was then a lad. He was soon afterwards apprenticed to William Bradford, printer and became a newspaper publisher, who acquired fame by reason of his attacks on Governor Cosby, and his subsequent trial for libel in 1735. His acquittal was the means of establishing the liberty of the press in America.

Pastor Kockerthal returned to his colony and devoted the remainder of his life to the Palatines. He died in 1719, and was buried in Saugerties, Ulster County, N. Y.

HOWE ABOUT—

By ED HOWE

(Copyright by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Real things assert themselves, and make the critics ridiculous.

◆

There are a dozen ways of expressing a negative. I once heard a man reply to a silly questioner with two words. It expressed not only complete contempt for the silly man but for silliness in general. It was a complete knockout in two words.

◆

The society pages of newspapers enrage me. . . . Still, when I lately took a party of women to the races, I sneaked out among the newspaper girls, and induced them to print pictures of my guests, and descriptions of their costumes.

◆

The old Greeks began asking questions three thousand years ago that have been argued ever since without answer. A thousand years before their time demands were made not yet granted. Some things we cannot have, but we began early to ask for them.

◆

I lately spent the evening with two valued subscribers who live in New York city, and have a good deal to do with its most important affairs;

It was an experience similar to going to China, being miraculously able to understand Chinese, and hearing two prominent citizens talk freely of Chinese affairs;

For I know no more about New York than I know about China: New York ways are as strange to me as Chinese ways.

There are quite a number of men in New York I should like to meet, having heard much of them. These two men know them intimately, and call them Sully, and Joe, and Mart.

An interesting evening. Still, I thought afterwards it was all only country town gossip dignified with better known names; and a little larger and more reckless devilishness.

Big city people do not fear congress as much as we farmers fear the constable.

God uses a whip in the country with great effectiveness big city people know nothing about:

Gossip, which loses its effectiveness among great masses of people.

A sour-faced old woman has more influence in a small town, and is more generally feared, than a congressman in New York city.

In a big town it is possible to point out a great crowd of humans and say they are tough; but in the small town names, dates, are given, and this hurts.

The worst thing about a big town is that it lacks the effective regulation of gossip.

Specific

The sweet young thing and her future life partner were making arrangements with the minister for the marriage ceremony.

"What is your name?" the clergyman asked.

"Mary Jones, sir." (Perhaps it was Smith.)

"And what is your age?" he continued.

"Nineteen, sir," answered Mary.

"Where were you born?"

"What did you say, sir?" inquired the bride hesitantly.

"I say where were you born?"

Taking two steps nearer the minister, she lowered her voice—

"At home, sir."

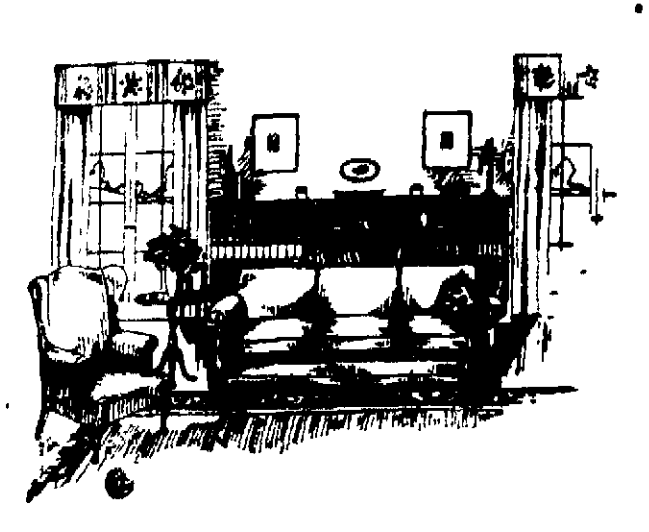
"Your Home Should Come First"



This Is Not an Extravagant Place to Buy

We recently met a woman who had never shopped here because she thought our furniture was all high priced. She had arrived at this conclusion because of the lovely things purchased here which she had seen in her friends' homes. Last week we had the pleasure of entertaining this woman and of pointing out on a tour of the store many beautiful pieces of furniture as notable for their moderate prices as for their distinctiveness. She was delighted with her discovery. May we not have the opportunity of convincing you, too?

Water for Ablutions Little Used in Tibet

There are various ways of carrying children—in carriages, in the arms, on the hip or shoulder, in a blanket or leather sack, or pickaback.

The Tibetan woman is obliged to resort to the method last named, as she has no perambulators, or "go" carts at her disposal. Why the task cannot be assigned to "father," the stronger and less industrious of the two, is unintelligible. But "baby," apparently, resigns himself to the situation, and, incidentally, enjoys his joy rides!

The first event in "baby's" life is his first (and last) bath! This is attended with due ceremonial. Well may it be, for it is a red-letter day in his existence, as he is only oiled thereafter!

The reason is explained by the fact that Tibetans of the lower classes never wash during the cold season, and very sparingly at other times, because it is alleged that the skin of the face cracks and ulcerates from the cold, if water is applied to it! The people of towns, who do not go much outside their houses, wash occasionally.

But the prejudice is strong against ablutions of the person, and it is equally extended to clothing, which, accordingly, is worn in a filthy and greasy state. Consequently, soap is higher priced, and little used in Tibet! Oil, on the other hand, is in much requisition as a preventive against cold.

It is not surprising, in the circumstances, that infant mortality in Tibet runs high, and that the babies that survive are so vigorous that they can [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] without inconvenience, and, indeed, bear with impunity much rough usage.

Geophysical Facts

The earth is largely just the same as meteorites, our only importations from outer space. In experiments at the geophysical laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington that simulate the conditions of extremely high temperature and pressure of the earth's interior, Dr. Leason H. Adams and Dr. Ralph E. Gibson have found that rocks have much more elasticity than was formerly supposed.

In a report to the National Academy of Sciences Doctor Adams said that they had found that the least siliceous of the silicate rocks, known in geological parlance as Dunite, when subjected to very high pressures was three-fourths as rigid as steel. The calculations of the two experimenters have been found to tally with seismological data which definitely establishes that the main part of the earth consists of peridotitic rock or the stuff that meteors are made of.

Chance to Visit Elverhoj Colony

Although the Elverhoj Colony at Milton was founded a number of years ago, there are still many Kingstonians who are unaware of its existence, and the opportunity which is now offered of mingling with the colonists and witnessing the theatrical performances given by their company of professional players will prove a genuine treat to many. Beside the theatre, an opportunity is offered to inspect the various exhibitions of artists' work among which the very famous work of the craftsmen in precious metals will be of particular interest. Some of the handmade jewelry is the finest to be seen anywhere in the world.

For the benefit of prospective subscribers for the season it is announced that performances will be given at 8:30 o'clock on the evenings of July 3, 5, 7, 10, 14, 16, 17, 21, 23, 24, 28, 30, 31, August 4, 6, 7, 11, 13, 14, 18, 20, 21, 25, 27, 28, September 1, 3, 4, with matinees every Saturday. Tickets are good for any night. Dinner will be served at the inn every evening and there will be dancing on Saturday evenings after the performance. Tickets for all performances may be secured from Fred B. Van Etten of this city.

Hope to Find Treasure

The treasures of lost ships buried under the sands of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers are being sought by Elmore E. Wenner, a prospector, who has spent some 25 years gathering information as to their location and possible recovery. He believes that there are still large quantities of the cargoes of priceless pelts, gold, silver, etc., in the skeletons of those treasure ships the value of which government reports indicate to approximate $30,000,000. His investigations have disclosed that altogether some 275 steamers were sunk in the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers between 1819 and 1896.—Pathfinder Magazine.

China is said to have the largest army in the world, its organized armed force numbering, early this year, about [illegible] men, as compared with only 212,000 in 1914. Denmark, on the other hand, has probably the smallest, with only 10,000 men. The United States soldiery numbers 120,000 on last estimates and that of England and France about 700,000 each, with those of other countries ranking lower.

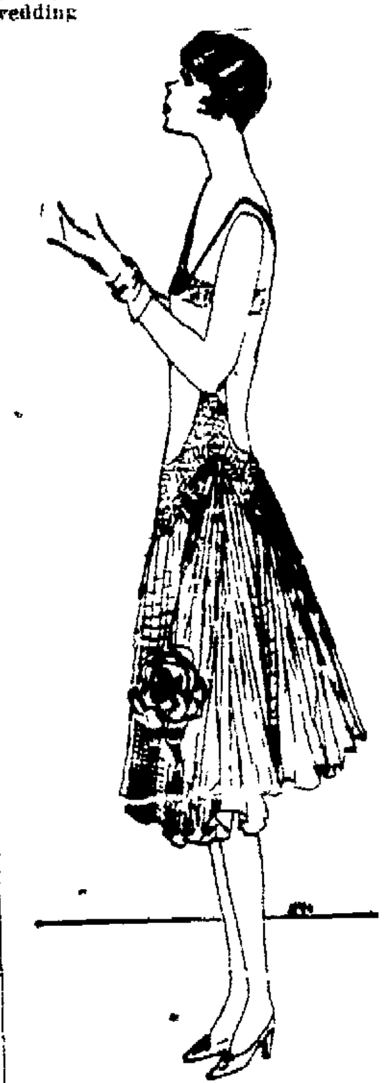
Eleanor Gunn On Fashions

A Wedding Party Today May Be Both Picturesque and Smart, Thanks to the Several Preferences of the Mode.

It sometimes seems as though fashion were particularly unconcerned with making it easy to plan a smart wedding. One may always have a picturesque one, but it is at times difficult to link up the requirements of bridal finery and the mode. Just now, it is particularly easy, for tulle has the merit of being a relatively inexpensive material, one particularly lovely in a range of pastel or flower coloring, and one which has the ethereal almost poetical quality which makes for an effective wedding.



The Bridesmaid's Gown May Be Taffeta and Tulle. A Molded Bodice and a Bouffant Skirt Is An Excellent Type of Dress for One Who Is Attending, Attendant or Both. This One Has Lace and a Rose.

Taffeta, too, always appeals to those who design for picturesque weddings, and just now taffeta dance frocks, as well as tulle ones make the bridesmaid's lot a particularly happy one. The use of tinted lace and of organdie in connection with taffeta and the interesting addition of flowered chiffons, gives one a far wider choice in planning a bridal party or in laying in an array of dance frocks. Yellow, it may be mentioned here, has returned to smart favor after being absent for several seasons and it immediately suggested itself as charming for summer or early autumn nuptials.

Current events both here and in Paris emphasize bloused waistlines, interesting girdle treatments, short skirts and various versions of the bolero. There is no danger, seemingly, of skirts lengthening, excepting for the robe de style, a type of frock peculiarly appropriate not only for the bridesmaid, but the bride herself.

Family Newspaper

A unique newspaper is printed in New York city, with correspondents all over the world and a circulation confined to the members of a single family.

It was established by a downtown broker, who is one of a very large and widely scattered family, as a clearing house for news from his many relatives. Each one is pledged to send in, at stated intervals, all items of interest for the information of the others. All the letters are printed, and thereby each is kept posted about the affairs of the others.

The broker's private secretary has the job of editor of this odd journal and rejoices that the family name is not Smith.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

HOGNOSE SNAKE

"It does seem a shame," said the Hognose Snake, hissing in his most polite way to his neighbor, the Garter Snake, "that so many creatures should be so badly named."

"What makes you say that?" asked the Garter Snake.

"Well, there is the Hog-Deer," said the Hognose Snake. "He is a beautiful deer and does not resemble a pig in any way.

"There is no sense for such a name.

"Then there is the Ant Bear, no relative of the Anteater. The Ant Bear does not grow, nor does he look like a bear, nor is he fond of ants.

"Then there is my own abused self. I am called the Hognose Snake, the Sand Viper Snake, the Puff Adder Snake and other cruel names.

"They all make me sound unattractive and dangerous."

"That is so," said the Garter Snake, "and it does seem rather unfair."

"Rather unfair," hissed the Hognose Snake, "very unfair." He wriggled and twisted around in his zoo home.

"Ah, but there is a reason for your names and for your looks," the Garter Snake said.

"Now, I am more abused than you are. I am quite harmless and yet people are always going out of their way to kill me and to think me dangerous."

"Dear me," said the Hognose Snake, "you're as mild as mild can be."

"That's so," said the Garter Snake, "but people don't seem to understand that. Now, with you it is a little different."

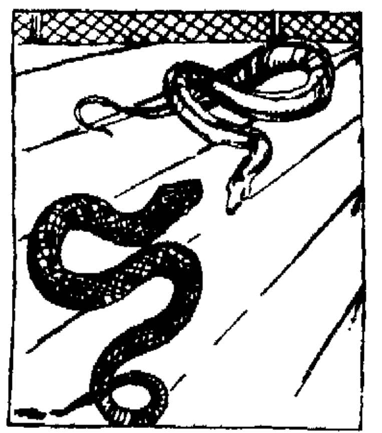
"Tell me anything to comfort me," said the Hognose Snake, wriggling in a tired, mournful fashion.

"You look dangerous. You are absolutely harmless but you look as if you could do lots of harm.

"Now, that is Nature's way of protecting you. People are afraid of you for you look dangerous and they're more apt to leave you alone.

"They would try to run away from you. They'll take a chance on staying and killing me."

"Oh," hissed the Hognose Snake. "It is good to hear a few kind and comforting things anyway. What does a name matter when one can fool the great world?"



"Dear Me," Said the Hognose Snake.

And the Garter Snake hissed:

"It doesn't matter; you're a lucky snake!"

Now the Canada Porcupine was talking in the next house.

"The people in the zoo wonder," he said, "why we don't thrive very well in a zoo.

"They say that they give us the best of cages, the best of food, the best of care. Now all that is very, very true. They do give us good homes, good care, good food. They're kind and nice and pleasant and friendly—but—" and the Canada Porcupine drew a long breath.

"Yes," said his brother, "I know what you are going to say."

"Do you?" smiled the Canada Porcupine. "Do you know that I am going to say that what they don't give us is—well, it is something they can't give us, and it is—our own homes?

"We don't like to change. We love the woods where we have always lived and had our families and our work and our play and our naps and our joys and our troubles.

"We don't care for any zoo. The porcupines from Africa may care for zoo life, but not the Canada Porcupines.

"We are angry when people say that we throw our quills when every sensible person knows that we don't throw them, but if anyone comes near us we let one of our quills stick into them and leave us. That's what we do.

"Our quills are our protection, but oh, if they want to know why zoo life doesn't agree with us we can tell them it is because we are lonely—lonely for our Canadian woods, our dear homes where it is wild.

"We can show how we stick our quills up when we're startled here, but in the free life they're a real protection, and it is the free life we love, we Canadian porcupines.

"That's the secret."

A Mistake

"But why didn't you attend to that little cobweb?"

"Oh, I thought it was part of the radio."

Rainbow Chasers never find the gold

YEAR by year as the motor car registration in Soconyland leaps by bounds, Socony Gasoline and Socony Motor Oil continue to find favor with millions of experienced motorists.

There is nothing unusual in the spectacle. Socony Gasoline and Socony Motor Oil are backed by a company with over 52 years of refining experience. "Gasolines" may come—just as "gasolines" have disappeared from the market, but Socony is always—"Uniform in Quality—Best in Results." Experienced motorists know it and choose it.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF NEW YORK
26 Broadway

"There will always be a certain number of people in the world who go chasing rainbows, hoping to find a pot of gold at the foot—and return sadder and wiser—without the treasure. Likewise, there are some motorists who waste their time and money in searching for something better than the old reliable Socony Gasoline and Socony Motor Oil.

"Incidentally, I hope you'll use the Socony Touring Service, Room 1211, 26 Broadway, New York City. Free Socony maps and touring information for the asking."

C. E. Convention Opens on July 2

A great deal of interest is being taken not only by Christian Endeavorers of the county in the coming convention to be held beginning Friday of this week at Saratoga Springs, but by others interested in young people's work, for this opportunity of visiting this noted place at this season of the year at less than the regular railroad fare by asking for a convention certificate from the railroad agent gives many a chance to be in attendance also at the historical celebration of the battle of Saratoga, which will be held during the days of the convention. Then too the many noted speakers that one will have a chance to hear proves an added attraction. Special hotel rates are given to all who register at the convention and from reports received, this promises to be one of the largest attended in many years.

General Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, will be one of the speakers. General Andrews, an army officer for 26 years with a brilliant record, later chief executive of the New York Transit Commission, and now the head of the Federal Government's prohibition enforcement unit, is a notable figure in the public eye. He has had time to make but a few public addresses and has carefully chosen for his appearances large and representative audiences. His acceptance of the Endeavorers' invitation, official business permitting, is one more evidence of the significance of the annual sessions in this state, which bring together from 4000 to 5000 delegates of the youth of the churches.

Other speakers who have accepted invitations to the convention are the following: Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Chicago since 1909, former moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly; Harry N. Holmes, director of British Y. M. C. A. work in France during the war, and secretary of the World Alliance for International Friendship; Dr. A. Ray Petty, pastor-elect of the late Dr. Russell Conwell's church, Grace Baptist Temple of Philadelphia; Hon. Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner of correction of New York city, president of the State Christian Endeavor Union; Dr. Ira Landrith, national extension secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor; and many others.

Percy S. Foster of Washington, director of music at the Presidential inaugurations, will be the convention song leader. Conferences, quiet hour meetings, a parade, oratorical contest, steamer ride on Lake George, and other features are announced by the program director, Carlton M. Sherwood, general secretary of the State Union, and also executive secretary of the Citizens Committee of 1000 for Law Observance and Enforcement.

In the Hawaiian islands, as apparently elsewhere in the world, volcanism is dying out. The occasional lava flows and explosions which Professor Jagger is watching so carefully in Hawaii are insignificant in comparison with the vast activity which went on not very many centuries ago.

The oxy-acetylene flame is capable of producing a temperature in the neighborhood of 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit, the highest temperature that is produced outside of the electric arc. The figure has not been definitely established.

Home Bureau Picnic Wednesday

On Wednesday, June 30, everyone in the Home Bureaus of Kingston, Hurley, West Hurley and Asbury, will pack a basket full of "goodies" and will get all set for a real good time at the aerating plant at the Ashokan Reservoir. Could anyone wish for a more wonderful spot for a day's recreation with the beautiful scenery and lots of fresh air? Men, women and children will enjoy the games and stunts. Why, yes, even the men are invited, so bring them along and show them a real picnic.

Arrangements have been made with the Pine Hill-Kingston bus to take the people there, so if anyone wishes to go by bus, be at the Home Bureau Office not later than 10 o'clock, daylight saving time, at which time all will forget their cares and home duties and will start for a day's outing at one of the beauty spots of America.

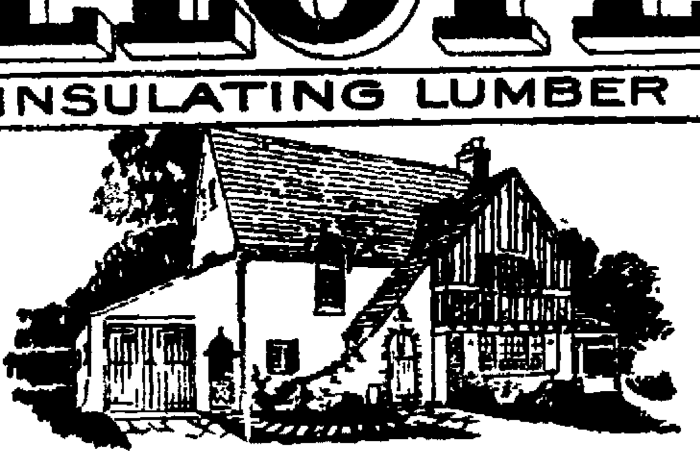
CELOTEX
INSULATING LUMBER



"Liberty's"
Model Homes
All being built with an Amazing Lumber!

The history of these four houses

The history of these four houses is interesting. Last Fall, Liberty published an article describing one woman's experience in building a home. Thousands of letters were received asking for more articles on this interesting subject—and so Liberty decided to "adopt" four homes-in-the-making. From the hundreds of homes offered for "adoption" four were selected, varying in cost and type of construction. They are widely separated geographically. For sixteen weeks, beginning June 12th, Liberty is following the building of these homes in a series of articles which contain practical, helpful suggestions on the subject nearest the heart of every American family—a home of enduring comfort.

If you have not read these articles, be sure to see the current issue of Liberty—on the newsstands now.

THESE HOMES, featured by Liberty's Magazine, will be summer-cool, winter-warm, stronger and quieter. Their owners will save money.

Each is a thoroughly typical American home, built in accordance with American standards of taste and comfort.

The owners of every one of these houses are building with an amazing heat-stopping lumber! For they know that wood, brick, plaster, cement, etc., do not effectively keep out heat—keep heating in or furnace heat from leaking out.

This lumber is Celotex. It is not cut from trees, but is manufactured from the long, tough fibres of cane into broad, strong boards. Celotex resists the passage of heat and cold many times as effectively as wood lumber, masonry and other wall and roof materials. It shuts out wind and moisture . . . quiets sound.

WHY THEY CHOSE this Insulation. Celotex was selected by these progressive home owners because it offers advantages found in no other building material.

Unlike ordinary insulation, Celotex is not an extra item in building. Wherever used, in the walls, roof and ceiling of a house, it replaces one or more other materials, and actually saves money.

Smaller, less expensive heating plants keep Celotex houses warm. And year after year, their owners will save from 25% to 35% of their fuel bills!

These great advantages are available right now for every home, new or old. No one can afford to build or buy a house today without full knowledge of Celotex. Let us tell you more about it.

MILTON.

Milton, June 28.—While taking the mowing machine of Milo Hepworth along the state road last Monday afternoon, Cornelius Warren met with a Ford coupe going north at a rapid rate and crashed into the mowing machine, smashing one of the wheels. The driver of the car was taken before Justice Edward A. Martin, who fined the driver of the Ford coupe $15 for damages and a fine of $10 for driving his car without an operator's license.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church held a food sale Saturday afternoon which proved a decided success financially. There was a big demand for home-made cakes, bread, rolls, buns, etc., and there was a large attendance of purchasers. The demand for these goodies was really larger than the supply.

Children's Day was observed at the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening. The program rendered will be published later.

Many of the residents here attended the boat races at Highland Monday afternoon.

A meeting of the Maids and Matrons' entertained the Men's Club at the Community House Tuesday evening. The hostesses were the following: Mrs. Carl Rhoades, Mrs. Ensign Lyons, Miss Elizabeth Rhoades, Mrs. William R. Ordway, Miss Lena Sackersdorff, Mrs. Grover Furguson, Mrs. Homer Fowler, Mrs. Everett Hyatt, Mrs. Ernest Bell, Mrs. Irving Clarke, Miss Helen Covert, Mrs. Cornelia Caverly. The chairmen of the occasion were Mrs. Carl Hergert, Mrs. Stott Anderson, Mrs. Irving Clarke. The Juvenile Merrymakers of Highland furnished the music, consisting of piano, mandolin, ukulele and drum. A motion picture was also given during the evening.

Charles Williams, who works on the farm of L. C. Tuckerman, was brought before Justice Edward Martin on a charge of public intoxication last Monday. He was given a ten days suspended sentence.

There seems to be as much public intoxication in this village now as when the saloons were in operation. It is a well known fact that the booze is being sold here and the parties who are selling it are well known but nothing is being done to put a stop to it or punishing the offenders of the prohibition law.

Quite a large quantity of strawberries are being shipped from this section by the Hudson River Fruit Exchange. On account of the frequent rains this season the strawberries are much larger and of a finer quality. Quite a few of these berries are being sold at the road side markets. About three hundred crates are being shipped from Marlborough every evening.

Mrs. Charlotte Tuttle, Mrs. M. Clarke, Miss Lulu Clarke, Mrs. John B. Ball, and Mrs. R. N. Hallock were among the list of prize winners at the flower show at Marlborough last week.

Miss Mary A. Davis, sister of Mrs. Birsall Taber, who recently purchased the McNicholas farm on the state road south of this village, began the making of fruit jam, some of which is being sold at Barrett McNichol's road side market. Miss Davis is making the following different kind of fruit jam. Pineapple, apricot, strawberry, raspberry, pear, peach, etc., and will fill orders at any time for canning all kinds of fruit. We wish her success in this business.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison of New York, widow of the late President Harrison, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Francis Moorhead, at her home Yondermere, on Pine Tree Hill.

J. A. Driscoll is still very ill at his home on the South Road from a general breakdown. His many friends here hope for his speedy recovery. Mr. Driscoll is a director of the Milton bank and a citizen who is much esteemed and respected by all who know him.

Time To Study Dividends.

Babson Park, Mass. (Special)—A prominent mill, with head quarters in New England, has just reduced its dividend rate. Another mill recently passed its dividend. On the whole, it seems to now be a good time to look more carefully into the future dividend possibilities of many prominent companies, especially in the industrial line of business.

So far this year, the greatest amount of industrial dividend payments steadily increased in March and April over the February drop from the January peak. Earnings and surplus are two mighty important items in the industrial world just now.

MOTORISTS FEAR HOLDUP; SPEED PAST DYING WOMAN

Body Is Found at Daylight, With Husband Injured and Exhausted as Result of Wreck.

Riverhead, L. I.—Robert Bertschy, manager of the Capitol theater at Riverhead, tried vainly to stop motorists at a bridge over the Long Island railroad tracks, three miles west of here, for several hours, as his wife lay dying under his wrecked automobile at the bottom of a 80 foot embankment. She was dead by the time help arrived.

Bertschy and his wife, Charlotte, were returning to their home in Riverhead from Smithtown when, at 1:30 a. m another car started to pass him on the right. Bertschy swung his car to the left and struck a fence the automobile going over the embankment

Bertschy was stunned and badly hurt. When he crawled out of the wreckage he heard the groans of his wife, pinned beneath the car, and he could not extricate her

Bertschy saw an automobile approaching and with great difficulty struggled up the side of the embankment and waved to the motorist to stop The motorist only put on speed and went past him Bertschy then went back to console his wife, who continued to pray until she lost consciousness

Weak and sore from cuts and bruises on his face and body and with his nose fractured, Bertschy several times climbed the embankment and sought to stop motorists, but all went by him, apparently fearing a holdup. Finally Bertschy fell beside the car, almost unconscious, and there he was found by a man at daylight This man stopped a motorist and other help was summoned, but Mrs Bertschy was dead

Great Chinese Buddha Found Full of Treasure

This colossal Chinese Buddha, formerly the property of Richard Mansfield, the actor, which was recently sold at auction in New York to a Chinese art dealer, was found to contain many old and valuable manuscripts and old precious stones in its hollow chest. The Buddha, which is cast in bronze, sits on a pedestal, consisting of a brass drum covered with 8,000 small engraved Buddhas. The god and the pedestal combined are more than eight feet high, and weigh more than half a ton.

Old City of Pyramids Found in South Mexico

Mexico City—A prehistoric city, covering more than 100 acres and stretching over the top of a great flat elevation, has been found by a scientific expedition which left Mexico City two weeks ago to explore the country south of Mexico City and in northern Guatemala. The city has more than a dozen pyramids and immense buildings of cut stone blocks weighing many tons.

The type of the buildings indicates they were deserted before the coming of the Spaniards 400 years ago. The architecture, partially Zapoteca and partially Maya, indicates that they were built by people taking part in the two great cultures in southern Mexico.

Tradition says the city once was the center of an ancient civilization which disputed the power of the Mayas, but was destroyed 200 years before the discovery of America, when the Toltecs first appeared on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

Indians report several other ruins of great cities belonging to the same civilization further within the dense tropical vegetation northward from Tonala.

Illness Blamed to Temper

Ill temper and ill health go hand in hand, according to Dr. George M. Stratton, psychologist of the national research council, who has observed the history of more than 1,000 subjects. Men who at one time or another in their lives had a serious illness appear to be abnormal and more subject to intense emotional reaction at times, he says.

Wood Best Insulator

The bureau of standards says wood is the best insulator for ice. However, it is as impossible to keep an ice box cold without melting the ice as it would be to keep a stove hot without burning coal. Of course, an ice box should be so constructed as to prevent the heat from the outside getting into the interior of the box.

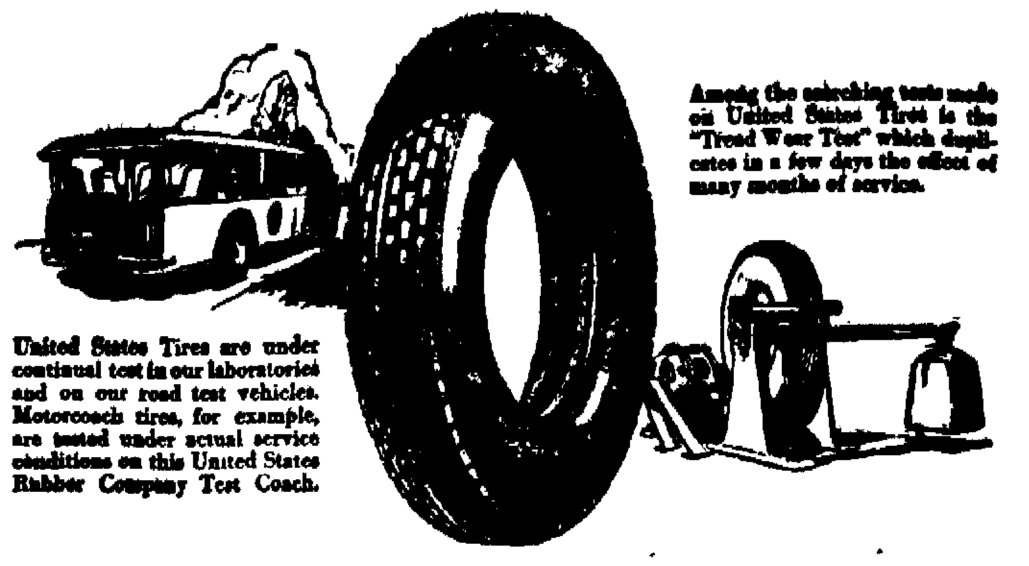
UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

What is a Real Tire Test?



United States Tires are under continual test in our laboratories and on our road test vehicles. Motorcoach tires, for example, are tested under actual service conditions on this United States Rubber Company Test Coach.

Among the searching tests made on United States Tires is the "Tread Wear Test" which duplicates in a few days the effect of many months of service.

Questions and Answers that may be News to You—by a Tire Engineer of the United States Rubber Company

Question—With 20,000,000 cars running in America, does not the experience of users largely take the place of factory tests?

Answer—On the contrary. The very fact that motor transportation is so important in the life of every one imposes an additional obligation for searching tests on the tire manufacturer. The makers of United States Tires do not expect their customers to test their tires for them.

Question—What does the United States Rubber Company Factory Test include?

Answer—Everything from the Tree to the finished Tire. Raw materials are tested before they go into the tires, and the finished tires are tested in the Company's laboratories and on the Company's road test cars, trucks and buses. They are also watched in actual commercial service.

Question—What do these tests prove?

Answer—The material tests insure the quality of material used. The laboratory and road tests of complete tires "prove up" the correctness of manufacturing processes.

Question—What raw materials are tested?

Answer—Cotton cord, which furnishes the strength and flexibility of the tire; rubber, which binds the various parts of the tire together and forms the tread or wearing surface; compounding ingredients, which we mix with the rubber to give it the necessary qualities; and, steel wire, which is used in making the beads of the tire.

Question—What tests are made on the cord?

Answer—Cord going into the manufacture of Web Cord for United States Tires is tested for strength, stretch, size, twist, ply, length of staple, and freedom from imperfections.

Question—What tests are made on Rubber?

Answer—Even though the quality and uniformity of Sprayed Rubber is controlled by the processes used on our plantations in the Far East, every shipment received at our factories is again tested for uniformity and also, after mixing with sulphur, it is tested for its rate of vulcanization, its tensile strength and stretch.

Question—What tests are made of compounding ingredients?

Answer—Compounding ingredients are tested to determine their purity and uniformity. They are practically all in powder form and even the degree of fineness to which they have been ground is tested.

Question—What tests are made on Steel Wire?

Answer—Steel wire is given a chemical analysis to determine whether it meets our specifications, and it is also tested for tensile strength and elongation.

Question—Are United States Tires tested alongside of other makes?

Answer—Yes. These tests are conducted daily in our laboratories and on our road test vehicles.

Question—What is the object of these competitive tests?

Answer—To maintain the superiority of our design and construction.

Question—Does the fact that a large number of tires of a certain design and construction have given satisfactory service obviate the necessity for further tests on tires of the same kind?

Answer—No. Vehicle design and use, and road conditions are constantly changing. Tires that gave excellent satisfaction ten years ago are obsolete today in design and construction.

Question—How does the United States Rubber Company keep abreast of these constantly changing conditions?

Answer—It has a corps of factory trained technical experts in different sections of the country, continually checking the service our tires are rendering under actual operating conditions.

Question—Do all companies test their tires in this way?

Answer—Most all companies make tests of some sort. Very few, if any, carry them to the extent that they are carried by the United States Rubber Company.

Shriners Hold Ladies' Night

Entertained Ladies at Banquet and Dance at The Governor Clinton Hotel Monday Night—Enjoyable Time Had With Excellent Menu and Fine Music.

It was "Ladies Night" at The Governor Clinton Hotel on Monday evening when the Kingston Shriners' Association entertained their wives and lady friends at a banquet followed by a dance in the new hotel. The Shriners each year hold a "Ladies' Night" and Monday's event was said to be one of the best held in some time by the members of the association.

The big dining room of the hotel had been decorated for the occasion and on each table stood a bowl of roses. The attendance was so large that it was found necessary to throw open the big dining hall and set a number of tables in the lobby.

During the serving of the dinner Paul Zucca's singing orchestra rendered a fine musical program with several solos by Paul Purcell, and community singing on the part of the Shriners and their friends.

The following excellent menu was faultlessly served:

Crab Meat Cocktail.
Olives. Salted Almonds. Celery.
Golden Broth, En Tasse.
Fried Filet of Sole, Remanlade.
Potatoes, Julienne.
Fried Spring Chicken, Maryland.
Head Lettuce, Bellevue.
Neapolitan Ice Cream.
Assorted Cakes.
Coffee.
Cigars Cigarettes

Before the serving of the banquet at 8 o'clock the Shriners and their friends began to gather in the lobby of the hotel which presented a gay and festive scene with a bright note of color added by the red fezzes worn by the Shriners and the gay colors worn by the ladies. To the strains of the orchestra the Shriners and their friends marched into the big dining room and after the invocation and the singing of America, were seated.

Following the serving of the dinner the tables were cleared away and dancing enjoyed until a late hour.

The officers of the Kingston Shriners Association are: President, Harry R. LeFever; vice-president, William Newkirk; secretary-treasurer, Samuel J. Messinger.

The members of the executive committee are, Samuel S. Brown, Martin Cantine, John Cartwright, William Doyle, Jr., Philip Elting, M. H. Herzog, C. B. Murray, Philip Schantz, Edward M. Stanbrough, William J. Turck, William H. Van Etten, Fred S. Van Voorhis.

RECITAL WEDNESDAY AT TRINITY M. E. CHURCH

Much interest is being shown in the recital to be given on Wednesday evening in the lecture room of Trinity M. E. Church by some of the more advanced pupils of Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

Most of the piano numbers are from the great masters and there will be short sketches of the lives of these men given by Miss Mauterstock and others which will greatly add to the enjoyment of the music. Interspersed between the musical numbers will be readings by some of the elocution pupils.

The special features of the program will be a reading "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," by Myrtle Reed, given by Helen Danner and assisted by four members of the Y. W. C. A. Mandolin Club, soprano solos by Mrs. Benjamin Johnston and a pantomime by five of the elocution pupils who will be dressed in French costume and will present "The Marseillaise" with Mrs. Johnston as soloist.

Pennsylvania May Obtain Services Of "Rusty" Callow

Eastern College Willing to Pay Famous Washington Mentor $15,000—Callow Likely to Accept—Spuhn Would Stay as Assistant Coach.

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, June 29.—"Rusty" Callow, man of destiny as a result of the dazzling victory of his University of Washington crews at Poughkeepsie, today faced the most important decision that can come before a man at such a stage of his career. The winning Husky Squad was to come to New York tonight to do the theatres and see the lights but Callow was not to be with them.

According to a pre-arranged appointment, the most famous rowing coach in America was to continue on to Philadelphia in the company of John Arthur Brown, chairman of the rowing committee at the University of Pennsylvania. In other words, the wordless duel between Pennsylvania and Washington for the services of the coach seemed about to reach a definite decision, with everything pointing to a Pennsylvania victory.

As the writer understands the situation, Callow will spend the next few days as the guest of Mr. Brown at the latter's summer home at Atlantic City and, if he escapes without signing a contract at Pennsylvania for 1927, he should drop rowing forthwith and take up the finer art of diplomacy.

Callow, they say, bought a railroad ticket for Philadelphia yesterday before his super-crews won the varsity and junior-varsity races at the greatest regatta Poughkeepsie ever has known. How he felt about the matter after these stirring victories were gained, no one could say but the betting was even that he, at least, would go far enough to keep the Brown appointment.

For one thing, the Pennsylvania offer is not less than $15,000, according to reliable information, with the sum of $25,000 to be divided between Callow and Fred Spuhn and Max Luft, former Washington oarsmen now in charge of rowing at the Philadelphia school.

For another, the coming of Spuhn and Luft to Pennsylvania this year was said to have been effected with the understanding that Callow was to follow and take charge in 1927. This, if true, may be a moral obligation that Callow might not care to ignore.

However, the best laid plans of mice and men often run up a blind alley and forget to come back. It had been Brown's fond fancy that he would close the Callow deal at Poughkeepsie but he couldn't even get close enough to the coach to borrow a match or admire his necktie.

Hedged in by Washington men at all times, Callow was kept pretty much isolated as far as Brown was concerned, the Huskies being duly aware of the situation. It was even said that they brought a member of the Washington faculty along to see that Mr. Callow didn't become involved with alien influences. But Mr. Callow evidently did. Otherwise, he wouldn't have bought a ticket to Philadelphia, regardless of whether he uses it or not.

If he doesn't Pennsylvania will pocket its $15,000 and proceed to forget the incident. Indeed one influential Pennsylvania man assured the writer today that his college was prepared to assume a philosophical attitude in the event of failure.

"We are very well pleased with Fred Spuhn," he said. "If Callow fails us, Spuhn will be very acceptable as head coach, if he wants the job. In fact, it is entirely up to Spuhn as to whether he returns to Pennsylvania or not. I understand he can have a position with another eastern college and, if he wants to go, we won't stand in his way. If he doesn't, he can find a welcome at Pennsylvania any time."

PETE LATZO MEETS WILLIE HARMON TONIGHT

Newark, N. J., June 29.—Twenty-five thousand fans are expected to see Pete Latzo, world's welterweight champion, place his crown in jeopardy for the first time tonight, when he meets Willie Harmon in a twelve-round battle here.

It will be a no-decision fight but there always is a possibility of a knockout, although few fight experts expect Harmon to turn the trick.

Harmon, an aggressive, mauler-type of fighter, is regarded as likely to go the full route with the champion from Scranton, Pa., however, as he is hard to knock off his feet.

U. & D. Downed K. G. & E., 9 to 1

The Kingston Gas & Electric proved easy prey for the Ulster & Delaware team at the Athletic Field Monday night, losing to the Railroaders, 9 to 1. Freddie Williams allowed the Gasmen but seven hits, and let them score their one run by his own error.

Crispell started the game for the Gasmen, but did not last long. Doyle took his place in the second inning and pitched fairly good ball.

The Ulster & Delaware team took advantage of Crispell's wildness in the first inning and coupled with four hits were able to score four runs, which were enough to win the game. Leskie, the first man up, reached first on a pass. K. Hornbeck singled, and advanced to second while Leskie was taking third on a passed ball. Black singled to right field and Leskie and K. Hornbeck scored. Black stole second. He tried to steal third, but was thrown out by the pitcher. Smedes walked and Long singled between first and second. Smedes was thrown out at home on D. Hornbeck's grounder to Sickler. Long and D. Hornbeck scored on R. Williams's triple to center field. Ertelt was thrown out at first to end the inning.

The Gasmen had a big inning in the third. F. Williams helped Quinn to first on a wild throw, and Doyle scored him with a triple down the first base line. The Gasmen had three men on in this inning but they were all stranded, Hoffman striking out and Leskie grabbed two fast grounders holding the runners to their bags.

The Gasmen made another bid for a run in the fifth, but the best they could do was to fill the bases and be left there, waiting for a hit, but no one responded.

The Railroaders managed to slip two more across in the fourth, and three in the fifth.

SIDE-LINERS.

The Railroaders are striking their stride for the first this season. It will take a good team to stop them.

The boat races kept the attendance down a bit, but the usual crowd was on the first base line.

Quinn played a good game on second base for the K. G. & E. He cut off a few hits on the Railroaders.

Smedes found the K. G. & E. infield asleep in the fifth inning, when he hit one toward first base. Nobody covered the bag for the Gasmen.

The Artistics and Standard Oil play tonight.

ROCKY KANSAS AND COMPANY AT CHICAGO

Chicago, June 29.—Rocco Tozzo, better known as Rocky Kansas, was in town today, prepared to put his affairs in shape with the new Illinois Boxing Commission, a necessary piece of business before he can defend his lightweight title here next Saturday against Sammy Mandell of Rockford.

Meanwhile, between sessions with the commission, Rocky will polish off his training at Mullen's Gym. Manager Dan Rogers and a coterie of seven sparring partners, trainers and aide de camps trekked in last night behind the Buffalo warrior.

Tagging Major League Bases

Cincinnati kicked the Pirates all around the lot for the fourth straight time and won in a romp, 6 to 1. Aldridge was treated roughly while Eppa Rixey was all Greek to the Pirates.

An eight-run Chicago rally in the fifth broke up a ball game between the Cubs and the Cardinals, the Bruins winning 11 to 3. Vic Keen was the chief victim and Charlie Root the winning pitcher.

The Braves had the Giants whipped and then proceeded to throw the game away, 3 to 2. Florence's homer featured.

Philadelphia pounded the daylights out of four Brooklyn pitchers and breezed home to an easy victory, 9 to 4. Leach led the attack with four hits.

Lefty Grove and the Athletics exerted their jinx over the Yankees by copping the first game of the series, 7 to 1.

With Wiltse yielding only three hits, the Red Sox changed their spots and thrashed the Senators, 6 to 2, Flagstead getting four hits.

Detroit's winning streak of seven straight ran into George Uhle and broke into fifty-seven pieces as the Indians slugged their way to an 8 to 4 win. The Tigers dropped into a tie with Philadelphia for third place.

Jim Edwards, of the White Sox, was too much for the Browns, holding them to four hits and whitewashing them 7 to 0. Ernie Nevers, coast football star, pitched one inning for St. Louis and yielded three hits.

Kaplan Kayos Garcia in Tenth

Hartford, Conn., June 29.—"Bullet Bobby" Garcia of Baltimore was a bruised and battered youth today, pounded to a pulp here last night by Kid Kaplan, featherweight king, in the first championship fight held here since Young Corbett knocked out Terrible Terry McGovern twenty-five years ago. Garcia was knocked out in the tenth round, the referee stopping the slaughter after one minute and fifty-four seconds of the round.

Young McAuliffe, the referee, stopped the fight after Garcia had been knocked down seven times. Garcia's legs were caving in, his eyes were glazed and his jaw sagged. Blood poured from several cuts on his face and his nose was smashed.

For seven rounds the pair fought at close quarters, with Kaplan leading on points. In the eighth Kaplan shot a right uppercut to the chin and Garcia went down. Twice more during the round he was sent sprawling to the canvas.

When the ninth round began the champion floored the Baltimore boy three times with hard punches. Garcia, full of courage, got up and slugged hammer and tongs, with Kaplan forcing the pace and landing the cleaner blows.

In the tenth a right to the heart staggered Garcia and Kaplan bored in with a rain of blows. Garcia raised himself weakly at the count of nine, but the referee declared him out as the champion prepared to deliver the knockout punch.

The fight was dull for the first seven rounds. Garcia did not win a round. The result was a surprise, although Kaplan had beaten the Baltimore boy twice.

Ten thousand fans saw the bout. George Mulligan, the promoter, said today that he had lost $10,000 on the venture. Kaplan received $17,000 and Garcia $7,200.

OLIVE BRIDGE BEAT SHENANDOAHS, 2 TO 1.

Olive Bridge defeated the Shenandoahs of Kingston at Olive Bridge Sunday, score 2 to 1. Hornbeck pitched a fine game for Olive Bridge, allowing only four hits and fanning nine. Winkky, the Shenandoah pitcher, was hit hard but good support kept down the score. Hoffman starred in the field for the visitors.

CRIQUI WILL ATTEMPT TO REGAIN HIS TITLE

Paris, June 29.—Eugene Criqui, war hero and former featherweight champion of the world, announced today that he would attempt to regain his title.

Criqui will sail on July 30 for Buenos Ayres where he will give a series of boxing exhibitions. When these are finished he will take on several leading South American featherweights.

Criqui said that if he was successful in these matches he would challenge the present champions of both Europe and the United States.

Washington Wins Greatest Regatta

Captures Varsity Race by Fifteen Feet After Grilling Duel With Navy—Takes Junior Varsity Also—Columbia Wins Freshman Race.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 29.—Thousands of visitors were scattering to their homes today, singing the praises of the sensational Washington varsity crew which beat the Navy and six other eights on the Hudson last evening in the greatest intercollegiate regatta ever held here. Syracuse finished third, followed by Pennsylvania, Columbia, California, Wisconsin and Cornell. Washington's time was 19:28 3-5, six and four-fifths seconds slower than the Navy's time last year.

Washington also won the junior varsity race, beating Pennsylvania by a length and a half. California, Syracuse, Cornell and Columbia finished next in order. The East's only victory of the day came in the freshman event when the undefeated Columbia crew led all the way and won by five lengths, followed by California, Syracuse, Penn and Cornell.

Washington jumped into the lead at the start of the varsity race, led the Navy during most of the race by a comfortable margin and won by fifteen feet after a grilling duel with the Annapolis crew in the last mile as nearly 100,000 spectators cheered themselves hoarse.

The Navy suffered from a slow start and trailed the Huskies by more than a length during the first mile. Washington led by almost two lengths at the two-mile mark and maintained this advantage during part of the next mile.

Then the Navy began its drive, gradually creeping up on the leaders amid the shrieks of sirens and a bedlam of noise. They fought almost on even terms down to the finish line, but the Huskies had the greater reserve power and stood off the Navy's challenge in a thrilling duel.

Six lengths back of the Navy came Syracuse, which made a surprisingly good showing. Pennsylvania was three lengths further back. Cornell was last for the first time in regatta history.

Syracuse had held the Navy even for almost a mile and a half. The trailing crews waged a desperate battle, with Columbia exceeding expectations and Wisconsin making a disappointing showing. California beat out Wisconsin by less than four yards.

Summary.

The following is the summary of the results:

Varsity Race—Four Miles.

First, Washington; No. 2, Navy; No. 3, Syracuse; No. 4, Penn; No. 5, Columbia; No. 6, California; No. 7, Wisconsin; No. 8, Cornell. Time—19:28 3-5.

Junior Varsity—Three Miles.

First, Washington; No. 2, Penn; No. 3, California; No. 4, Syracuse; No. 5, Cornell; No. 6, Columbia. Time—15:40 1-5.

Freshman Race—Two Miles.

First, Columbia; No. 2, California; No. 3, Syracuse; No. 4, Penn; No. 5, Cornell. Time—11:38 3-5.

TIGER FLOWERS EASILY BEAT RAY NEUMAN

Boston, June 29.—Tiger Flowers, the Georgia tornado, who holds the middle weight championship of the world, clearly won from Ray Neuman of Newark, N. J., in a ten round bout at an open air carnival of the Crosscup-Pishon Post, American Legion at Braves Field. In every one of the ten sessions, Flowers had a commanding lead. He jabbed, hooked, clubbed, swung, uppercut and looped the loop with his hands until he was weary.

Neuman gamely took all that was sent his way and returned for more. He possessed Spartan courage to stand up round after round with the iron man from Atlanta.

And when the battle was over, Flowers did a somersault and then gave an exhibition of the "Charleston". Neuman to show that he still possessed a lot of energy also did the heel and toe in Charleston style, and the multitude applauded.

Last Night's Fights.

At New York.—Frank Garcia, California, outpointed Spencer Gardner, Newport, R. I., 10 rounds.

Harry Baba, New York welterweight, fought a draw with Sig Keppen, Freeport, N. Y., 10 rounds.

Clinton Father of Common Schools

New York's First Governor Laid Foundation of System of Education—Early Correspondence Relating to Kingston Academy—Legislation Whose Enactment He Procured.

Augustus H. Van Buren of this city has prepared a second article of historical interest at the request of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in connection with this week's celebration of the Sesquicentennial celebration of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration was adopted on July 4, 1776, but was preceded by a week of important work by the Continental Congress.

Mr. Van Buren's article on George Clinton is as follows:

George Clinton laid the foundation of our system of education, and was the father of our common schools. While the war was still raging he looked through and beyond the smoke clouds and took steps to see that the oncoming generations should be properly fitted to play their part in the career of the state in the years to come.

In his address to the Legislature on July 11, 1782, he said:

"In the present respite from the mere distresses and the calamities of war, I cannot forbear suggesting to you a work which I conceive ought not to be deferred, as the business of peace, the promotion and encouragement of learning.

"Besides the general advantages arising to society from liberal sciences, as restraining these rude passions which lead to vice and disorder, it is the peculiar duty of the government of a free state, where the highest employments are open to citizens of every rank, to endeavor by the establishment of schools and seminaries, to diffuse that degree of literature which is necessary to the due discharge of public trusts.

"You must be sensible that the war occasioned a chasm in education extremely injurious to the rising generation; and this affords an additional consideration for extending our earliest care to their instruction."

This was the first executive suggestion concerning education made within the limits of the State of New York. Again in his address of January 21, 1784, he said: "Neglect of the education of youth is among the evils consequent upon war. Perhaps there is scarce anything more worthy of your attention, than the revival and encouragement of seminaries of learning; and nothing by which we can more satisfactorily express our gratitude to the Supreme Being for his past favors; since piety and virtue are generally the offspring of an enlightened understanding."

As a partial response to the above suggestion, the Legislature on May 1, 1784, passed an act changing the name of Kings College to Columbia College, created a board of regents for it, and vested it with certain specified powers; and also created a board of regents for the state, with the power to found schools and colleges; of which board Clinton was president.

In his address on January 5, 1792, he said:

"As the diffusion of knowledge is essential to the promotion of virtue and the preservation of liberty, the flourishing condition of our seminaries of learning must prove highly satisfactory, and they will, I am persuaded be among the first objects of your care and patronage, and receive from time to time such further aid and encouragement as may be necessary for their increasing prosperity."

In compliance with this the Legislature on April 11, 1792, made an appropriation of 7,900 pounds to Columbia College for the library, chemical apparatus, improving the grounds, and a new hall and wing; and 1,500 pounds to the regents annually for five years for academies.

In his address on January 3, 1795, he said:

"While it is evident that the general establishment and the liberal endowment of academies are highly to be commended, and are attended with the most beneficial consequences, yet it cannot be denied that they are principally confined to the children of the opulent, and that a great proportion of the community is excluded from their immediate advantages; the establishment of common schools throughout the state, is happily calculated to remedy this inconvenience, and will therefore re-engage your early and decided consideration."

The fruit of the foregoing was the passage of an act by the Legislature on April 9, 1795, which appropriated 20,000 pounds annually, for the term of five years, "for the purpose of encouraging and maintaining schools in the several cities and towns in this state, in which the children of the inhabitants residing in this state shall be instructed in the English language, arithmetic, mathematics, and such other branches of knowledge as are most useful and necessary to a good English education." Specified sums were allotted to each county until after the next apportionment of representation in the Legislature and then to be proportioned to the number of electors in the county for assemblymen. The supervisors of each county to raise by tax on each town a sum equal to one-half of the sum so appropriated by the state to the county.

If Clinton had never done any other act than to build the "Little Red School House" by securing the passage of the foregoing legislation he is entitled to an everlasting praise and gratitude for thus founding our free common schools.

The following letter from Clinton is of local interest:

"Poughkeepsie, 4th Sepr 177[illegible]

"Revd Sir, I am favoured with your Letter of the 28th Ultimo by young Mr. Paris. It will give me great Pleasure to render the Son of so Worthy a Patriot every Service in my Power & I shall be happy if any Aid I can give him will enable him to acquire a Character in Public Life equal to that which his Worthy Father maintained & support it with like Reputation. From the conversation I have had with the young Gentleman, I find that he has not a sufficient Acquaintance with the learned Language to enter upon the Study of the Law to Advantage & that he is deficient also in Point of Mathematical Knowledge which is equally useful. It is, therefore, my Opinion that he ought to spend at least a year or two at some good school where he may acquire a Competent Mathematic Knowledge & of the Latin Language. And for this Purpose (if you Sir & Mr. Paris agree with me in Sentiments) I would recommend him to the Academy under the Direction of Mr. Addison at Kingston as the best & Cheapest I know. Cosmopolitan South Africa

South Africa is among the most cosmopolitan places in the world, according to L. Kee, writing in the Sydney Bulletin.

"I saw a suitcase in the window of a shop in Durban and decided to buy it," says Kee. "A pleasant Hindu took my order and requisitioned a negro boy to get the article from the window. A girl (race unascertainable because only her eyes were visible; but they had a suspicious blue Chinese tint in their whites) typed the sale note, and an aged white man took my cash. Finally a Zulu, dressed like Beelzebub, 'rickshawed me and the case to the hotel. Each addressed the other in a different lingo."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

LET IN THE SUNLIGHT

OPEN the windows of your soul and let in the living sunlight.

There are too many curtained casements in the bodyhouse, too many barred doors and closed shutters.

Why grope around in the dark, stumble, fall and hurt yourself when by a little regard for the world at large you may walk forth in the glorious light and find your way to noble achievement?

Why live in the somber shadows when a [illegible] cloudless blue beckons you to the summits of the golden hills, where the air is clean and inspiring?

Unclose the heart to friendship, faith and charity.

Step out into the open an unfettered man or woman, ready to assume your duties, willing to help the burden bearers, glad to face obstacles and determined to make your mark.

Heed not the sneers of those hapless mortals who pine away in gloomy houses, too proud to turn their faces to the dome of heaven, for they know not where they tread or where they go.

Choose your path in the blazing day and follow the footprints of the great men and women who are doing, achieving and creating in the genial light of the sun.

Read in the shining pages of history about the illustrious, their early struggles, how they flung open their windows, let in the divine light of trust, and rose under its illuminating luster to honor and fame.

With similar efforts and like resolves you can do the same.

There is no limit to the possibilities that in you lie if once you decide to progress and stoutly refuse to turn back into darkness.

Impossible has no place in the brave man's vocabulary.

Get the best from life by doing your best. You are free. The privilege of accepting or rejecting is yours.

Stop complaining of gloom which in most cases you make yourself.

Cease finding fault with others and blaming them for obscurity that darkens your vision and halts your footsteps.

Look to your own windows and make sure that they are open to the spiritual rays of heaven.

Do these things, hold firmly to a straightforward course, and nothing can stop you on your upward march, or keep you from praiseworthy accomplishments.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE LONG OF IT

"SISSONBY, old fellow, old top," said Eton Juicer, "really, you know, it would be a deucedly jolly thing if you would look about you, make a selection from these four-legged, ingenious contrivances known as chairs, stand in front of it for a fraction of a second, hitch up your trousers the veriest trifle, and then allow your knees to bend until you find yourself in that not uncommon posture familiarly known as a sitting position."

Yes, too patient reader, you are perfectly right in wondering why, for the love of Mike, Eton Juicer didn't simply ask Sissonby to sit down, and have done with it.

The truth is, Clarence [illegible], the author who wrote the paragraph, is paid at the rate of fifty cents a word, instead of by piecework like his brother, Ed, the one that works in the cigar factory.

Mother's Cook Book

We are like little children in our poor unreason,
As we reach after joys
That at best can please but for a season,
And then are broken toys.
—Ella W. Wilcox.

WARM WEATHER FOODS

DURING the summer the wise mother serves plenty of fresh vegetables and fruits, using less of meats and no such desserts as steamed puddings and rich pastries. This is not only a saving in time for the cook, but also a saving on the family digestion.

No dinner seems quite complete without a bit of something sweet to finish the meal—dates and figs and raisins have a place in the menu. A few stuffed dates will be sufficiently satisfying; they are easy to prepare and are not expensive.

Nuts and raisins have always been liked for dessert; these, too, are quickly made ready.

Ices and ice creams may be purchased or made in the home. With a good freezer it takes no more time than many other well-liked desserts and they are much more wholesome.

For meats that are especially good for warm weather, the following are suggestive:

Jellied Veal.

Wipe a knuckle of veal and cut into pieces, put it into a kettle with two quarts of water, bring slowly to the simmering point and simmer for two hours; then add two onions, one blade of mace, one bay leaf, twelve whole cloves, six peppercorns, one-half teaspoonful of ground allspice and simmer one hour longer. Take out the knuckle, carefully remove the bones and put the meat into a square mold. Boil the liquor until reduced to one quart, strain, add a fourth of a cupful of good vinegar, salt and pepper to taste; pour it over the meat and set away to cool over night. When cold turn out carefully and slice.

Italian Cheese.

Take one pound of veal, one and one-half pounds of calf's liver, one-half pound of ham, one small onion, half a teaspoonful of sage, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, one-fourth of a box of gelatin, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of black pepper, and a dash of cayenne. Chop all the meat fine, add seasonings and grated onion. Grease a mold, press the meat into it, cover and steam three hours. Remove the cover, pour off the broth, add to it the gelatin which has been soaking in a little cold water, mix well and chill.

Middletown Plays Here Wednesday

When the Middletown Grays meet the Colonials at the Fair Grounds Wednesday evening in a twilight match Manager Hunter will have three newcomers with his outfit beside the three Kingston players, Matty Deegan, Bill Schwab and Jack Robins. Hunter has signed three men who were formerly with the Ward's Island State Hospital team and all three will make their debut with the Middies, Wednesday evening.

It will seem peculiar to see three Kingston players doing their best to win a ball game at the Fair Grounds and not spending their energies in the Colonials' behalf. It will be a new experience for Deegan, Schwab and Robins, decked out in the Middies' uniform, and doing their best to give their old teammates a trimming. For five seasons these three local players wore the regalia of the Kingston Colonials. When it looked at the start of the 1926 season as though the locals were not going to get under way, Hunter signed the Kingstonians. The match is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock.

The Hudson A. C. of New Haven will pitch camp for a bout with the Phelpmen Saturday evening in a twilight battle. The local owners will try out something new in the Saturday line of baseball by staging the game at 6:30 in the evening instead of the usual starting time of Saturday matches, 3:30.

Odds and Ends

Members of the membership committee of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Memorial Building, O'Reilly street.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

Kingston Chapter, No. 155, O. E. S., will hold a card party on Wednesday evening, June 30, at 8 o'clock, at the Masonic Club Hall, 635 Broadway. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. The public is invited.

The Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, will hold a regular meeting this evening at 8:30 o'clock at K. of C. Hall, Broadway and Andrew street. As arrangements are to be made for the annual clambake and for the annual outing given to the children of the Sacred Heart Orphanage at West Park, it is hoped there will be a large attendance this evening.

Correct Name Is Kelder.

Because of an error in a wrong letter, the name of Randell Keller appeared as a pupil in Arthur H. Snyder's piano recital program Wednesday afternoon. It should be Randell Kelder.

DIED.

RUE—Died at East Kingston, Monday, June 28, 1926, Frank, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rue.

Funeral will be held Wednesday, 9:30 a. m., from the late residence, and 10 a. m. from St. Colman's Church, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of the soul. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Interment at St. Mary's Cemetery.

WEBER—Entered into rest in this city, Sunday, June 27, 1926, Wilhelmina, beloved wife of Ernest and loving mother of Gustave, Florence, Frances, Dorothy.

Funeral services will be held from the late home, 537 Bay street, Stapleton, Staten Island, on Friday, July 2, 1926, at 2:30. Relatives and friends invited. Interment in family plot at Stapleton, Staten Island. Auto cortege. Arrangements by Thomas J. Wolf.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of my sister, Mrs. James Norton, who died June 29, 1924.

Days of sadness still come o'er me,
Secret tears do often flow,
But memory keeps you ever near me,
Though you died two years ago.
Friends may think you are forgotten,
But the wound is as fresh today
As the time you left me saddened
Just two years ago today.
Your heart-broken sister,
GRACE.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 29.—A 5 per cent call loan renewal rate, lack of public buying of speculative stocks and liberal offerings by the professional traders resulted in an irregular price movement in the early trading in the stock market today. Railroad stocks and several motor and industrial stocks were strong.

United States Steel common sold above 139, while Cast Iron Pipe moved up about 4 points.

General Motors pushed forward to above 146, recovering practically all the ground lost in last week's decline. Atchison led the rails.

United States Steel in the second hour advanced to a record high price of 140. Motor stocks and high priced industrials were firm and active in this period.

AUTO LEFT UNGUARDED: $12,000 GEMS STOLEN

New York, June 29.—A bag of gems, valued at $12,000, was stolen from an automobile parked in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral. W. H. Vanderpool, owner of the jewels, reported to police today.

Police are scouring the pawnshops and questioning underworld characters in an effort to locate the gems.

According to Vanderpool, the gems were entrusted to two maids and a governess who were returning from Southampton, N. Y., with the Vanderpool children. The party was met at the depot by a private car driven by the chauffeur. During a shopping tour, the car was left deserted and it is believed that the theft occurred at this time.

Ten Graduated From St. Joseph's

Graduation exercises were held in St. Joseph's school hall Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and were largely attended by relatives and friends of those who were graduated from the parochial school. The graduating class included ten pupils who have completed their studies outlined for elementary schools. Those who were graduated were Raymond Brink, Angelo Bruno, Catherine Conlon, Rose Fischang, Arthur Madden, Elizabeth Madden, Margaret Mullen, Isabel Murphy and Genevieve Scanlon.

The program consisted of Ave Marie; valedictory; hymn "Praise Ye The Father." Then followed the distribution of diplomas to the graduates by Father Cusack who made a short address to the members of the class, the topic being the necessity of Catholic education. The exercises were brought to a close with the singing of the hymn, "Sweet Savior Bless Us E'er We Go."

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

John A. DeWitt died Monday at his home, 47 South Pine street. Surviving relatives are his widow, one son, Arthur, one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Basett, and three brothers and two sisters. Funeral from the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church at 2 p. m. Interment in Mt. Zion Cemetery.

Nathan Brink died in Brooklyn on June 25, aged 67 years. The body was taken to Mt. Marion where funeral services were held in the Reformed Church Monday afternoon with interment in Mt. Marion cemetery. Deceased is survived by a daughter, Miss Nellie Brink, and two sons, Grover Brink of Brooklyn and Roscoe Brink of Saugerties, and four sisters, Mrs. Luther Myers of Homelville, Mrs. Thomas Lockwood of Fish Creek, Mrs. Wesley Snyder and Miss Avina Brink of Mt. Marion, and a brother, Matthew Brink of Mt. Marion.

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Jordan was held from the late residence, No. 37 Adams street, this morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. W. H. Kennedy. The church services were largely attended and the floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. The bearers were Thomas J. Murray, H. F. Connelly, Thomas Feeney, John McCutcheon, James Nugent and James White. Interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery. The committal services were in charge of Father Kennedy.

Wilhelmia, wife of Ernest Weber, who conducted the River View Cottage at Hunter, N. Y., died in the Kingston City Hospital on Sunday, June 27, after an illness of about six weeks. Mrs. Weber had a wide acquaintance among friends in Kingston and Hunter, having located there about six years ago. Mrs. Weber was a member of the Rebekah Lodge at Hunter and at Stapleton, S. I. She is survived by one son, Gustave, and three daughters, Frances, Florence and Dorothy. The remains were taken to her former home at Stapleton where services and interment will be held on Friday afternoon.

West Shokan, June 29.—The funeral of Rose, wife of the late Moses Bishop, was held at the Baptist Church at West Shokan on Thursday of last week and was largely attended. Mrs. Bishop was a woman of sterling qualities with a kind and cheerful disposition that made her many friends in the vicinity where she was born and lived her entire life. She will be greatly missed as was shown by the many expressions of grief and sympathy of those who came to pay their last respects to their friend and neighbor. She is survived by one son, Clemont Ducey of New York city. Interment was in the family plot at Woodstock.

Chester Benton Overbaugh, a New York broker and former resident of Kingston, died Sunday night on board the United Fruit Company liner Ulua, according to a wireless message to Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the Pan American Commercial Congress. Mr. Overbaugh, with John Meigs, engineer, was en route to Panama as the guest of the Panamanian government to discuss proposed industrial developments in the republic. The message from Mr. Meigs stated that death was probably due to apoplexy, and that the body would be taken from the ship at Havana, Cuba, for return to New York. Mr. Overbaugh was head of C. B. Overbaugh & Company, with offices at No. 149 Broadway, New York city. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Wilson Overbaugh, a daughter, Miss Marion Cornell Overbaugh, one brother, Jacob Cornell Overbaugh and three sisters, Mrs. Katherine Overbaugh, Mrs. William Green and Mrs. John Topping. Deceased was the elder son of the late DeWitt Clinton Overbaugh and Sarah Cornell Overbaugh, formerly of this city. The father for a number of years was engaged in the coal and lumber business on Broadway near Cornell and Thomas streets. The late William H. [illegible] was a partner in the business. The Overbaugh family home was on Smith avenue.

About the Folks

Mrs. Hermann Luedtke, Sr., and her son Raymond spent the week end visiting in Brooklyn and Greenpoint, at the home of her son, Paul Luedtke.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Hyatt and Mrs. Soper have returned from a motor trip to Washington, D. C., Mt. Vernon, Baltimore and Philadelphia over the week end, visiting points of interest. They returned by way of the Delaware Water Gap and report an enjoyable trip.

Had Chest

The "war chest" of Senator William B. McKinley was to be investigated by the Senate committee probing primary campaign expenses. McKinley lost the Republican nomination for re-election from Illinois.

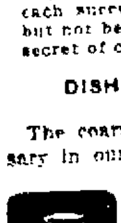
The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Live simply the first hour of each new day, with its richness and glory, with its sublime and eternity-determining possibilities, and each succeeding hour as it comes, but not before it comes—this is the secret of character.

DISHES FROM GRAINS



The coarser foods are quite necessary in our diet and should be used freely in all seasons of the year.

Oatmeal Tomato Soup.—Take one-half of a can of tomatoes, one-third of a cupful of oatmeal, two cupfuls of water, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half of a small onion, pepper and salt to taste, a bit of bay leaf and two tablespoonfuls of peanut butter. Cook one hour, rub through a sieve, add such seasonings as are needed and serve.

Hominy Gems.—Pour one cupful of scalded milk over one-half cupful of corn meal, add one-fourth of a cupful of cooked hominy, a tablespoonful of [illegible] the same of [illegible] an egg and the [illegible] beaten white. Sift in one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a little salt; beat well and bake in hot buttered gem pans.

Corn Flour Griddle Cakes.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of sour milk, the same of corn flour, three-fourths of a teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of salt and one well-beaten egg. Beat well and fry on a hot griddle.

Scotch Oat Crackers.—Put two cupfuls of rolled oats through the meat grinder, add one-fourth of a cupful each of milk and molasses, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of shortening, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of soda and one-fourth of a cupful of raisins or nuts cut into bits. Mix well, roll very thin and cut into fancy shapes. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Hominy and Pecan Croquettes.—Boil one-half cupful of hominy with one-half teaspoonful of salt in two cupfuls of boiling water for five minutes, then place in a double boiler for two hours, [illegible] cooking. Add two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one-half cupful of chopped pecans and a teaspoonful of scraped onion. Cool and shape into croquettes. Beat one egg slightly, add two tablespoonfuls of cold water, roll in crumbs and egg, then in crumbs again and fry in deep fat. This recipe makes one dozen croquettes.

WORLD CALLING FOR WEALTH OF TROPICS

Reason for Development of Equatorial Africa.

The French ministry at a recent council decided to build a railroad into equatorial Africa. This action has been hastened by the French colonial control, which declares the Congo region in its present state is not only useless to France but a heavy burden and expense. If the country is to be worth anything it maintains, the interior must be connected with French ports on the east African coast and its products be sent out to the world markets.

It has long been a matter of speculation if the natural resources of equatorial Africa were worth development and the expense and labor required to export them, the New York Sun observes. The caravan trade across the Sahara to Mediterranean ports revealed a great supply of ivory and tropical products, and natives and travelers reported immense reservoirs of raw material. The explorations of Livingstone and Stanley, however, gave the world the first estimate of the actual value of the resources of equatorial Africa.

The breaking out of the World war caused temporary abandonment of many European plans for the opening up of central Africa. Some of these plans have been revived within the last year. The British have built a railway from the east coast to aid the export of cotton from the newly developed Uganda cotton fields. They have also built several links in the Cape to Cairo railroad in the central African lake region. On the western coast the Belgians have constructed roads of 200 or 300 miles in length from their Atlantic ports into the interior. One of these, the railway to Brazzaville on the Congo river, the French have been using.

The French found, however, that the Belgian traffic has grown to such an extent that they were no longer able to depend upon this small railway. Their plan is to build a road from the head of navigation on the Congo eastward, with branch lines tapping the principal sources of native supplies. This road will place the development of the Congo region practically for the first time on a commercial basis. It is a pioneer venture, but at the same time it is a natural outcome of conditions. With the present demand for tropical materials the world is not likely to let this greatest source of supply remain undeveloped.

Mental Stunts in Golf

When I was lecturing in the principal cities of England and Scotland more than twenty years ago, a man whom I met in Glasgow told me that he had taken my advice and concentrated on his worst habit, lifting the head in golf, and had kept it up for two or three weeks every day; not while he was playing, but when he was sitting in his office doing nothing. He had concentrated on the fact that looking up to see where the ball is going has no effect whatever on its flight, and that if it is hit right it will always fly right. This being so, he concentrated on the fact that the only thing necessary to do was to hit the ball. He was evidently more than pleased with the practical results of his concentration.—R. F. Foster in Everybody's Magazine.

Long Term of Penance

Ten years meditation sitting in one posture has just been completed by a Chinese monk, formerly a steward on board a British steamship. His ten years was spent sitting in one position. The man felt the religious urge ten years ago and [illegible] meditated with his legs crossed under him on a stool, has earned him the name of the "meditating monk of Luan." All day he sits on the stool meditating and at night he sleeps in his cell in the same position. He always welcomes foreign visitors very warmly and delights in chatting about former scenes.

Big Engineering Contracts

The sum involved in engineering construction contracts let in the United States since the first of the year is approaching the billion mark and continues to show a gain over last year. The money value of contracts let, including all classes of construction, from January 1 to date is $923,175,000, as against a total of $849,442,000 in the corresponding period a year ago. Of the sum involved so far this year $642,574,000 went into private operations.

Suit Lasted Well

Wearing a suit of clothes made 55 years ago, Rev. I. G. Delano, old-time saddle-bag circuit rider still actively engaged in missionary work, celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday by preaching at Castlerock, Wash. The clothes, tailored by a woman, have never ripped and retain all buttons. The suit appeared not so old-fashioned as to style and cut as might be imagined. The trousers are very similar to the present mode.

Bernstein-Cinquigrani.

Miss Josephine Cinquigrani of College Point, L. I., was married to Harold Bernstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. Bernstein of this city, on Saturday, June 26. After a reception and banquet at Flushing Inn, the bride and groom left for Kingston to spend part of their honeymoon with the groom's parents at their home, 96 Hurley avenue.

Vandermark-Smith.

Harry Vandermark of High Falls and Elizabeth J. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith of Ulster Park, were quietly married on Sunday, June 27, by the Rev. George W. Gulick, at the parsonage at Ulster Park. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith of Ulster Park, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. The bride was beautifully attired in blue crepe de chine with picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaid was attired in blue crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink roses. After the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents. Later Mr. and Mrs. Vandermark left by train for a wedding trip to New York and Long Island.

Lynch-Pindar.

A very pretty June wedding took place Monday at 11:30 a. m. at St. Mary's Church when Miss Marie Pindar of Little Falls, N. Y., became the bride of James J. Lynch of this city. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Auspach of Red Hook, N. Y. The best man was Wilson Boyce of this city. The bride was gowned in a very pretty dress of pink crepe de chine and pink hat to match and carried white bride roses. The bridesmaid wore a rose crepe de chine dress and a white picture hat and carried pink roses. The young couple left for a honeymoon trip to be spent in the western part of New York state. They take with them the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and prosperous married life.

Newberry-Peters.

John Newberry of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, and Miss Inez Elizabeth Peters, eldest daughter of William Peters of Allen street, Saugerties, were united in marriage at the Baptist Church parsonage on Market street, that village, on Sunday, June 27, by the Rev. James O. Smith. The bride was gowned in white georgette and wore a hat to match and a corsage bouquet of white bride's roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Leona Peters, as maid of honor, who was gowned in pink georgette with hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Dudley Peters, the bride's brother, was best man. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride and the tables were artistically decorated in pink and white with ferns. The bride's gift to her maid of honor was a ring set with an acquamarine. The groom's gift to the best man was a gold stick pin. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Newberry left on a motor trip to Lake George and the Adirondacks and upon their return will reside in the Vandemark apartments on Market street, Saugerties.

Schaetzel-Coffey.

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's Church on Sunday afternoon when Miss Margaret Coffey of 93 Cedar street and Raymond Schaetzel of 44 German street were united in marriage by the Rev. Eugene A. [illegible]. The bride made a charming appearance dressed in turquoise blue georgette crepe trimmed in pastel shades and a large picture hat to match. She carried a large bouquet of bride roses. Her sister Agnes Coffey, was bridesmaid. She was dressed in peach georgette trimmed in pastel shades, and wore a large hat to match. She carried pink roses. George Schaetzel brother of the groom was the best man. Before and during the ceremony Samuel D. Scudder rendered appropriate music. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home for the immediate families. After congratulations the happy couple left for Niagara Falls. On their return they will reside at Foxhall avenue where a newly furnished home awaits them. The gifts were many and beautiful, including substantial checks, linen, silverware, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Schaetzel are very popular young people and have the well wishes of a host of friends for a long and happy married life.

Terwilliger-Turck.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Sunday, June 27, at 2:30 p. m., at Camp Watson, when Miss Alida P. Turck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Turck of Lincoln Park, Kingston, became the bride of Frank H. Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Terwilliger of Port Ewen, the Rev. C. H. Polhemus of Port Ewen, officiating. The place was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns, the color scheme being pink and white. The bride looked charming in a gown of white silk crepe over satin with a picture hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses. Miss Myers of Brooklyn, cousin of the bride, acting as bridesmaid was charming in a rose color crepe gown with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Earle O. Terwilliger of Port Ewen, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Little Miss Barbara Osborn, niece of the bride, was ring bearer. The happy couple left amid a shower of rice and confetti for a tour north, stopping at Lake George, Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls and Canada. On their return home they will reside on Greene street, Port Ewen, where a newly furnished home awaits them. Guests were present from Ohio, New Jersey, Brooklyn, New York, Kingston and Port Ewen. They have the best wishes of a host of freinds for a long and happy married life.

Highest Price For U. S. Steel

New York, June 29.—United States Steel Corporation stock sold at $140 a share on the Stock Exchange today—the highest price in its history.

Since the March "break" in stock prices, United States Steel stock has advanced 23 points in one of the most spectacular and mysterious stock movements in recent years.

While earnings of the corporation are considerably above dividend requirements they have never reached the phenomenal rate reported by some other well known corporations, such as American Can and Cast Iron Pipe. Wall Street rumors persistently state that important developments "of far greater significance than stock dividends or higher cash dividends" are pending in the affairs of the corporation.

The number of stockholders on the books of the corporation increased 3,154 to 93,671 in the second quarter of 1926, according to a statement issued today. This is the first quarter in which the number of stockholders has increased since June, 1924, when the figure was 99,180. In addition preferred stockholders number 74,672.

Cajun Justices Not Ruled by Blackstone

The old cajun justices of southwestern Louisiana were important personages. The trials which were held at the justices' homes, were made all-day affairs, the neighbors driving in from miles around. Evidence was taken interminably, although the verdict was usually based upon the justice's point of view rather than upon any mere point of law.

For example, I know of a planter who brought suit against one of his tenants for the recovery of a calf. His ownership being proved, he was awarded possession of the animal. Next he was ordered to pay the costs of the court.

"But," objected the planter, "I have won my case. The loser should pay."

"True," agreed the justice. "But then, m'sieu, you have the money, whereas the other has not."

However, it was in domestic matters that these "prairie judges" really shone. One of them declared proudly that he could marry and divorce quicker than any other man in the state.

"It is quite simple," said he. "Gobble wishes to tie up with some girl. That is all right. He gives me $5 and I write down his marriage in my book.

"After a while he don't like it? He wants to be free? That is all right again. For $10 more I tear out the page."—Nevil Henshaw in Adventure Magazine.

Old Term of Endearment

The term sweetheart was originally written in the form of two words. It is found in literature as early as 1290, though there is no record showing by whom it was first used.

NEW YORK STATE TAKES THE LEAD

State Referendum on Eighteenth Amendment This Fall to Be Watched by Entire Nation.

EVERY CITIZEN SHOULD VOTE

Letters to Legislators Show Public Dissatisfaction With Conditions—Temperance Advocates Demand Reform to Stop Law Violation.

Albany, N. Y.—New York state will take a referendum on the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution on November 2. Governor Smith has signed the Karle-Jenks bill, which, while it can make no change in the present prohibition law, will enable the citizens of New York to register whether or not they believe the law should be changed.

The form of the referendum is very simple. It reads: "Should the Congress of the United States modify the Volstead Act to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment so that the same shall not prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation and exportation of beverages which are not in fact intoxicating as determined in accordance with the laws of the respective states."

The lines for the contest are already drawn. Opposing the referendum are the out and out prohibitionists, who refuse to admit that prohibition has not succeeded and that it has resulted in the greatest wave of law violation the country has ever experienced.

Those Who Vote "Yes"

Favoring the referendum and pledging themselves to vote "Yes" on it are those who want temperance, but who feel that it is impossible to legislate upon the personal habits of the citizens of a country; the foes of the bootleggers and of the illicit manufacture of liquors and the anti-prohibitionists.

Letters which poured into the state legislature from every county show that the public is dissatisfied with the present condition and demands reform. Disappointment at the results of prohibition was expressed by many real friends of temperance. Many leading citizens who favored prohibition are declaring that they feel that prohibition is the wrong way to handle the liquor question; that the problem is one of education.

Shocking Conditions Revealed

Recently the sub-committee of the judiciary committee of the United States Senate took evidence to decide the exact status of the enforcement of the Volstead Act. During the hearings the public heard the truth. It learned from General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the Federal prohibition enforcement forces, that 875 prohibition agents have been dismissed for corruption; that 1,720,000 stills were in operation in this country last year (there are more this year); that not over 5 per cent of the liquor smuggled into this country is captured.

The public heard from Emory R. Buckner, United States District Attorney, that it would cost $75,000,000 annually to moderately enforce the law in New York state—and there are forty-seven other states.

Testifying before the special Senate committee on April 5, 1926, United States Senator William Cabell Bruce of Maryland pointed out some interesting figures which show why many who rejoice in the passing of the saloon are opposed to the Volstead Act.

Arrests for violations of the National Prohibition Act made by Federal prohibition officers since the effective date of that act:

January 17 to June 30, 1920	10,543
1921	34,175
1922	42,223
1923	66,936
1924	68,161
1925	62,747

Convictions under the National Prohibition Act in the Federal courts.

1920	4,315
1921	17,962
1922	[illegible]
1923	[illegible]
1924	[illegible]
1925	[illegible]
July 1 to December 31, 1925 (at the rate of 42,543 for a full year)	[illegible]

The above summaries [illegible] do not include arrests [illegible] convictions by state authorities [illegible] prohibition offenses.

Seizures of illicit distilleries, stills, worms and fermenters.

1920 (stills only)	[illegible]
1921	[illegible]
1922	[illegible]
1923	[illegible]
1924	[illegible]
1925	[illegible]

Drunkenness Increasing

It also learned that [illegible] representative [illegible] there were 467,022 arrests for drunkenness, a shocking situation which was never equaled even when the saloon and its attendant evils flourished.

The action of New York state in facing the situation squarely by preparing to let the people of the state for the first time express themselves on this important question is winning commendation from leaders of public affairs in every state.

Illinois and New Jersey are already preparing to follow New York's example.

Kruger's Idea Was to Make Camp on Ocean

The sight of the trackless ocean and a ship punching the waves, always brings back to this writer the authentic story of Paul Kruger, the president of the Transvaal republic, and his attempt to teach a group of Hottentot children the story of America's discovery, Pierre Van Paassen writes, in the Atlanta Constitution. His representation of a ship conjured up a mental picture of a floating covered wagon. Oom Paul's imagination may have been magnificent, but it failed him miserably on the occasion when he was traveling from Capetown to Southampton in the pathetic mission of seeking aid for his country at the chancelleries of Europe. When night descended Oom Paul, who in his youth had slain an African lion with his bare hands, became nervous and agitated. Finally he could hold out no longer. Briskly he climbed the ladder to the captain's bridge. The officer saluted. "Tell me," said the Boer president, "where do you plan to unhitch tonight? It's getting dark, you know, and I think we had better make camp." When reassured he the skipper he went back to his cabin, read the story of St. Paul's shipwreck, drank a stein of beer and fell asleep.

The [illegible] free towing service [illegible] members [illegible] handle [illegible] legal claims for damages [illegible] with insurance companies [illegible] members and defends its members in traffic court cases."

L. H. Beltram, secretary of the Albany Automobile Club, spoke on "How to Operate a Touring Bureau." In his address Beltram stressed the importance of giving service and [illegible] his organization had increased its membership from [illegible] to 1,[illegible] through service.

Ernest N. Smith, general manager of the American Automobile Association, said that there are more clubs in New York state that are not functioning as they should than in any other large section. Smith believed that the reason for this was that they did not give the right kind of service.

"We give every service that any auto club in the United States gives except insurance," said Hal H. Lewis, secretary of the Automobile Club of Buffalo in a talk on "Membership Building in a Large City." "We give twenty-four hour service 365 days in the year," he continued. "We are the only club east of Minneapolis that has a $100,000 club house. Selling that auto club to the motorist in a large city is a salesmanship enterprise."

For Forgetful Autoist

The man who used to forget about turning on the parking lamps of his automobile at "thirty minutes after sunset" as the laws of so many states provide need fret no longer. A scientist in Washington has perfected a clock device to turn them on for him at any appointed hour.

Life to Rubber Plant

If the leaves of your rubber plant turn yellow, loosen the dirt around the edge of the pot and remove the plant to a different pot. The root may be pot-bound or the soil might be wormy.

Inundation Formed Sea

The Dollart, an arm of the North sea at the mouth of the Ems, was formed by inundation in 1277 and subsequent dates. It lies between the province of Hanover, Germany, and that of Groningen, Holland.

Vanity and Pride

Vanity is a confounded donkey very apt to put his head between his legs and chuck us over; but Pride is a fine horse that will carry us over the ground and enable us to distance our fellow-travelers.—Marryat.

FROCK COATS

A London tailor was astonished the other day to receive an order for a frock coat.

"I have forgotten how to make frock coats," he said. "It is many years since I received such an order, and then it was from a negro in West Africa."

The man who wanted the coat (with satin lapels) is a member of a bank's staff.

"Not only are we obliged to wear frock coats," said an official of the bank, "but we are also obliged to be clean shaven. Before the war we had to wear top hats."

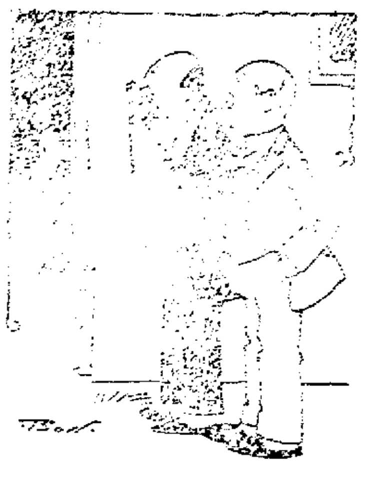
Linked

"Oh, yes, Petrovitch, one thing leads to another."

"What meanest thou, Iskigon, that one thing doth lead to another?"

"Forsooth, silly lad, didst never see 'link sausage'?"—West Virginia Moonshine.

WANTS CASH



Friend—You say your wife never wants credit for anything she does?

Hubby—No—she wants cash.

Modern Locksley Hall

Comrades, leave me here a little while as yet 'tis early morn.
Go and get some gas and bring it while I tinker with the horn.

Talking to Himself

"What is that noise I can hear through the wall?"

"It's our neighbor talking to himself."

"But he needn't talk so loudly as that!"

"He has to. He's deaf."

Must Be Asleep

Father (at 1 a. m.)—Is that young man asleep, Helen?

Daughter—Hush, father! He has just asked me to marry him and make him the happiest man on earth.

"Just as I thought. Wake him up."

One Use for Them

"Hope you liked those odd little Chinese back-scratchers I sent you, dear."

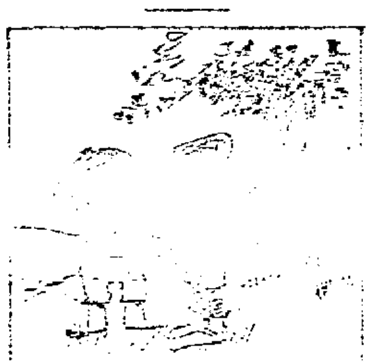
"Mercy! Is that what they are? I've been making my husband eat his salad with them."

It's So

"Well, Dolly, how do you like my new sweater?"

"You shouldn't say sweater, uncle, you should say perspirator."—Passing Show.

NO KIND OF GOLF



First Caddie—Why wouldn' yer be caddie for that girl no more?

Second Caddie—Aw, she wanted me to tote her vanity case 'stead o' clubs.

Young Composer

His quandary, it seems, is plain.
Here is the gist of the matter.
He wants the words of a song on rain.
That is the patter.

To Be Kept Dark

"Maud has cut out having candles on her birthday cake."

"I suppose she thinks her birthdays are no longer to be made light of."

Business

"There's a collector downstairs to see you, sir."

"Tell him to call some day when I'm at home."

Strange

"My razor doesn't cut at all."

"Why, George, you don't mean to tell me that your beard is tougher than the [illegible]?"

Fatal Habit

Dumb—Do you think growing old is a habit?

Str—Yeah, an' a bad one, too. Keep it up and it'll sure get you.

Mathematically Speaking

Jones—My half-brother is engaged to my wife's half-sister.

Smith—And when will they be made one?

The Eyes Have It

A.—The girl I marry must have wonderful eyes.

B.—Impossible; if her eyesight is good she won't marry you.

MAFRED, NOT MARRIED

Rastus was looking for work and the employer was asking him the usual questions.

"What's your name?"

"Erastus Jackson, suh."

"How old are you?"

"Ah is twenty-nine yeahs, suh."

"Are you married?"

"No, suh. Dat scar on ma head is where a mule done kicked me."—New York Central Lines Magazine.

Hip! Hip!

How the hippopotamus got its name—A couple of other guys, way back in the dark ages, saw a hippo and one of them said, "Say, that thing looks more like a hippopotamus than any hippopotamus I have ever seen." [illegible] called a hip[illegible]

Whew!

Her Little Brother—Yes, sister has a box with lots of funny things in it. There's a rolling-pin, a revolver, two flatirons, some long hairpins, 'n' everything.

Sister's Beau—Dear me! What does she call that?

Her Little Brother—Her hope chest.

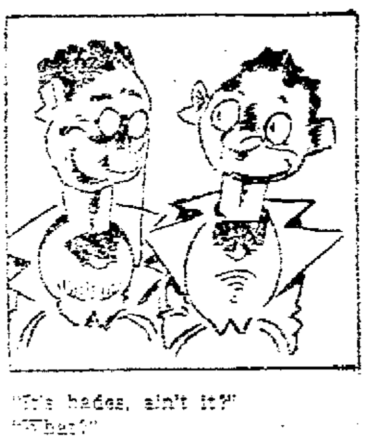
Out of Luck

The Miserable One—Things never go right for me.

The Jovial One—What's the matter now?

The Miserable One—My daughter who plays the piano has a sore throat, and the one who sings has a bad finger.

SO TIS SAID



"It's hades, ain't it?"

"What?"

"If you miss going to heaven."

Turks Do Work

Fig-eating is the only work
The Turk pursues with vigor;
And that's the reason why the Turk
Has such a bulging figger.

Very Fortunate

"Did you hear that a man was murdered in the street last night for his money?"

"Yes, but luckily he had no money on him at the time."

Got 'Em All at Once

[illegible] at the time.

Not Hard to Believe

Gertie—I wish you to know that I don't stand on trifles.

Helen (glancing at Gertie's feet)—No, dear; I see you don't.

As Usual

Hill—What time is it?

Dale—Five-thirty.

Hill—By George. I've got to rush out and meet my wife at four o'clock!

TUT-TUT!

Egg—Mr. Sausage looks very gloomy and sorrowful.

Oyster—Yes, a "sad dog"!

In Noah's Ark

There was a rooster that could crow
By moonlight or by dark.
So loud each rising mad could hear—
He crowed in Noah's ark.

Saved

"Oh, mother, the bank busted."

"What bank, child? Not the Sixth National?"

"No, my piggy bank."

Wife's Effort Useless

"My, but you're looking well, John."

"Listen pet, I don't want to go out tonight."
